THRONGS SEE GEORGE VI AT PARIS EVENTS

King and Queen Cheered on River Seine and in Streets
Crowds See Them At Garden Party

PARIS (CP)—King George laid a wreath of dark red roses at the tomb of France's Unknown Soldier today, then stood in salute for one minute of silent tribute to the nation's 1,500,000 Great War dead. It was the first of the ceremonies on the second day of the state visit of the King and Queen Elizabeth.

Wearing the full dress uniform of an Admiral of the Fleet in which he arrived in Paris, the King was accompanied to the Arch of Triumph, at the head of the Champs Elysees by the Duke of Beaufort, the maritime prefect of the second region, and his aides.

Troops stood rigidly at attention and throngs massed in the 12 avenues radiating from the circular Place de l'Etoile around the Napoleonic arch as the King performed the ritual.

A band sounded taps, after which the King signed the golden registry.

RIVER PROCESSION
Escorted by mounted Republican Guard officers, His Majesty returned then to the Foreign Ministry and joined the Queen for a formal procession down the river Seine from the Quai d'Orsay to the city hall on the Quai de Beaugrenes.

Crowds lined the banks and filled the windows overlooking the 1½-mile route.

Surrounded by ladies of her suite, the Queen sat amidships while the King and President Lebrun stood on the after deck of the streamlined white and gold yacht Danubia, privately-owned vessel put at the disposal of the royal party.

A fleet of small launches escorted the 75-foot yacht.

An overcast sky and sultry weather robbed the event of much of its brilliance and detracted from the picturesque quality of one of the most beautiful stretches of the Seine. The sun came out, however, after the party had reached City Hall.

GREETED BY COUNCIL
Bareheaded, Le Provost de l'Aunay and the city councillors greeted the King and Queen on the square fronting the beflagged city hall and conducted the visitors inside in a slow procession to the festival hall.

M. de l'Aunay, welcoming the sovereigns, declared that Paris (Turn to Page 2, Col. 3)

British-French Unity Stated

No German-Italian Move to Split Democracies Allowed to Succeed

PARIS (AP)—Great Britain and France today made King George's state visit the occasion for notifying Germany and Italy that attempts to split apart the western European democracies were doomed to failure.

Following speeches of the British sovereign and President Albert Lebrun last night in which they affirmed the solidarity of the two democracies, their ministers issued a communique after a long conference this afternoon reaffirming "complete harmony of their views" on international problems.

The communique, drafted by Premier Daladier, French Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet and Viscount Halifax, British Foreign Secretary, indicated, however, that Great Britain would not go beyond commitments made at London during the French minister's visit of April 28 and 29.

MILITARY ANGLE
This was interpreted by diplomats as a refusal to give an outright guarantee of military help to France in the event the latter should become embroiled with Germany on the Czechoslovak problem.

The communique stressed that the agreements reached at London for close collaboration would be "entirely maintained."

QUIET RETURNS TO HOLY LAND

JERUSALEM (AP)—The tense Holy Land saw a glimmer of hope today for an end to bloody turmoil which claimed more than 400 casualties in the last six weeks.

With a respite from major violence since the week-end, police and troops swept the countryside in searches for arms, ammunition and bombs.

Since July 5, when the Arab-Jewish disorders flared into a situation approaching civil war, casualties in the bitter racial feud have numbered 76 Arabs killed and 181 wounded and 36 Jews killed and 107 wounded. Newspaper censorship was started yesterday.

Big Oil Refinery Swept by Explosions and Fire

While great columns of flame and billowing smoke rose high into the sky, a spectacular fire swept the $12,000,000 Sinclair Oil Company refinery at Wellsville, N.Y. This air view, taken while the blaze was at its height, shows the inferno as one storage tank after another exploded. Four men were killed and many more injured as refinery workers and firemen battled to keep the flaming oil from getting into the Genesee River and floating into Wellsville. The large storage tanks seen in the lower right-hand corner were barely saved from the blaze. The first tank exploded Sunday night and the fire burned through Monday.

Score Killed and 100 Injured In Big Quake In Greece

Strongest Tremors of Modern Times Knock Down Buildings

ATHENS (AP)—The strongest earthquake felt in this country in modern times scattered death and ruin today through ancient Greece.

A tentative casualty list based on fragmentary reports from the stricken areas showed 20 persons killed and at least 100 injured.

The island of Euboea, north of Athens, suffered most heavily. The quake centred there and in at least two villages nearly every house was shaken down. Reports said the shocks caused fissures into which small buildings toppled.

Although the quake was so severe in Athens it put seismographs out of commission, the city retained its reputation of being virtually an earthquake-proof city. The capital suffered no serious damage, although many frightened inhabitants spent the rest of the early hours in the streets after the first heavy tremor at 2:25 a.m.

PRISONERS KILLED
Villages at Oropos, where walls of the prison crumbled, were convinced divine justice was meted out to one man awaiting sentence for the slaying of his children. He died in a collapsing building.

The warden called for troops to prevent prisoners' escaping. Few buildings were left standing in the villages of Lefanaka and Neapaltia; the latter a community of 1,200 population.

Irish President Greets Corrigan

No Contracts Now; Maybe Movies Later, Says U.S. Atlantic Flier

DUBLIN (AP)—Ireland's new President honored America's new aviation hero today by receiving him in Dublin's imposing presidential palace.

The 78-year-old President Douglas Hyde and the 31-year-old Californian, spick and span in new clothes, discussed the latter's amazing flight from New York to Dublin.

Earlier in the day Corrigan cut loose in a big Dublin clothing store. He bought two suits of sober hue and a bright sports coat and flannel trousers in preparation for his return by steamship to the United States.

OTTAWA (CP)—More than 200 people, from Georgia to Alaska, arrived here today to attend the testimonial dinner to Dr. M. W. Locke of Williamsburg. He will be presented with a bronze casting of his own hands and portfolio of letters from 3,000 grateful patients scattered over the world.

PLAN LIQUOR RULE CHANGE

Government Considering Pool For Members of Clubs in British Columbia

An amendment to the Liquor Control Board regulations which would permit members of clubs to pool their liquor instead of each having his own bottle is being considered by the provincial government, Attorney-General Gordon S. Wismer said today.

Under present regulations each member of a club, if he so desires, must have his own bottle of liquor in his locker. He may call the club steward to bring the bottle to a table in the lounge. If he has a drink with a fellow member it means there are two bottles on the table. If six fellow-members of a club have a drink together there are six bottles on the table.

Club members have felt this condition is ridiculous and hypocritical and that it should not be necessary to have more than one bottle on a table. They also claim that if a man wants to bring his wife to a club for dinner and serve her a cocktail it should not be necessary for him to purchase a full bottle.

It has been submitted to the government that the present set-up encourages drinking and that instead of having one or two drinks a man sometimes sits down and finishes the bottle of liquor.

The proposed pool system would not be for profit, the Attorney-General said, but only for the convenience of members.

The Vancouver Police Commission decided Monday it would have no objection to a pool system patterned after the Washington State Liquor Act.

Mr. Wismer said he would ask the Victoria Police Commission also for its opinion on the proposed change.

Two Fliers Lose Lives in Illinois

BELLEVEILLE, Ill. (AP)—Lieut. Ralph G. La Baw, 23, of Lincoln, Ill., and Private Alney Tanner, 22, of Sikeston, Mo., were killed today in the crash of an army plane 15 miles northeast of Scott Field. The occupants were decapitated.

ONE KILLED IN 160-FT. PLUNGE

Robert Hawthorne, Wilmer, B.C., Victim of Accident; Two Others Hurt

Robert Hawthorne was killed and two companions, Arthur John Standridge and Isadore Kane, all of Wilmer, B.C., were critically hurt when the car in which they were driving plunged 160 feet from the highway into Toby Creek, near Invermere last night.

The two injured men are in hospital at Invermere and their condition is reported as serious. Hawthorne, the driver of the car, was flung 40 feet from the machine as it landed upside down in the creek.

Radio advices to B.C. Police headquarters here this morning said the men were proceeding to a mining claim at Jumbo Forks on Toby Creek. Their car slipped off the road, plunging straight down a steep bank to the creek.

SMOKE PALL MAY THICKEN

Winds Bring Smoke From Several Directions; Little Likelihood of Rain

There are chances Victoria may be under an even thicker smoke pall tomorrow than today, but the weather man finds it hard to make a definite prophecy because of the lack of reports from ships on the Pacific.

The forecast for tomorrow is for somewhat higher humidity. If the winds remain the same this is likely to bring the smoke even lower over the city.

The pall which cut visibility below the half-mile mark in downtown Victoria this morning was a mixture of the smokes of a number of forest fires.

According to the Dominion Meteorological Observatory most of yesterday's smoke came from the big Campbell River fire, brought down by northerly winds at high altitudes. The wind at 3,000 feet was from the west, and that at the surface from the south and southwest. This last probably added a good deal of smoke from fires on the Olympic Peninsula.

Today a moderate easterly wind was bringing still further smoke from mainland fires.

According to the weather bureau it would be considerably hotter in town today if it were not for the pall hanging over the city. At 11 this morning the thermometer had reached 74 degrees on Gonzales Hill, and was likely to come near the 80-degree mark in the afternoon. Downtown temperatures are usually several degrees higher than at the observatory. Yesterday the highest recorded on the hill was 70.

There is a possibility of some cloudiness tomorrow, and a slight amelioration in fire conditions, the weather bureau said, but there appears little likelihood of rain.

DOREEN M'GREGOR CONTEST LEADER

The name of Doreen McGregor, sponsored by the Beaux-Arts, appeared at the top of the list in the "Miss Victoria" contest today, with Jean Wilson, MacDonald Electric Ltd. entry, as a close second. In third place was Phyllis Addison, sponsored by the Blue Line, while Kay White, U.T.C. candidate, was fourth. Eleanor Moffat, Scottish societies entry, was fifth and Jean Bishop, sponsored by Public Services, next.

The contest will last only three more days. It officially closes on Saturday.

Candidates' tickets can be secured at MacDonald Electric Ltd. on Douglas Street, where voters this week will make estimates of the number of assorted buttons in a jar on display there. The prize is a General Electric refrigerator, donated by that firm.

British-Australian Trade Memorandum

Two Canadian Destroyers at Duncan Bay Near Comox Ready to Aid Residents

Cut Timber At Camp 3 in Danger

Firefighters Ready to Block Path of Flames to Campbell River and Campbellton

CAMPBELL RIVER, B.C. (CP)—Destructive flames threatened new settlements today as the giant forest fire swept through 30,000 acres of Vancouver Island timber before a 20-mile north-west wind.

The forest office here reported the fires was becoming "unpleasantly close" to Campbellton, a settlement directly in the path of the fast moving flames. The office said, however, the village was in no immediate danger since wide fields separated its buildings from the forest.

Other sectors were moving swiftly towards Comox Landing camp three, a lumber camp in a district where from 30 to 60 million feet of bucked timber is stored, and toward a fire fighters' camp at Elk Falls.

FORBES LANDING SPARED
Meanwhile the little fishing resort of Forbes Landing appeared to have been spared from destruction. Flames, which had threatened the settlement all day yesterday and fired at least one building were burning themselves out.

DESTROYERS ON HAND
Two Canadian destroyers, the St. Laurent and Fraser, were standing by in Duncan Bay, near Comox, ready to proceed to any district and assist residents in escaping from the swiftly spreading flames.

Two navy signallers were established ashore in communication with the ships.

Even Campbell River itself, considered safe from the fire when it was spreading towards the village last week, was considered a possible target for the fire today and fire-fighters were being concentrated at the head of the fire's western flank to ward it off from Campbell River and Campbellton.

The forest office said the fire was within three miles of the Comox Island Company camp and "traveling fast." All available equipment had been moved to that sector of the widespread fire in an effort to save the vast stores of cut timber there.

Fire fighters at Elk Falls were preparing to evacuate their camp as flames moved nearer. They reported terrific heat and said they would be forced to travel up the Campbell River and circle the fire until they arrived at Menzie's Bay. Flames cut off the highway between Campbell River and Elk Falls. Two bridges were burned out during the night.

At Forbes Landing the 25 fire fighters who had worked madly all yesterday, to save buildings from the flames were about to leave and join the army of 800 men fighting the fire in various other sections.

A new outbreak at Extension Ridge near Nanaimo was brought under control by a fire-fighting crew last night, but not before it had forced several families to evacuate their homes in the district. A force of 12 men were stationed there to make sure the blaze did not break out again.

A 200-acre blaze on Gabriola Island in the Gulf of Georgia was burning through slash, but was under control, as was an 80-acre fire which burned along the highway.

Forest Fires Almost Double

Forest fires in various parts of British Columbia to date this year show a huge increase over last year and the year before, according to a report filed with the Minister of Lands by C. D. Orchard, assistant chief forester for the province.

Up to last Saturday 958 forest fires were reported in the province, compared with 527 in 1937 and 583 in 1936.

The fires were reported in the following forest districts: Vancouver (which includes the northern end of Vancouver Island), 271; Prince Rupert, 63; Fort George, 177; Kamloops, 318; and Nelson, 123.

No Relief If Men Travel In Groups

Story of Youths, Hose and Money

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two "teen-age youths were literally made to "come clean" here. By accident they walked into the stream of a powerful fire hose. When firemen dried their clothes a large sum of money was found in the pockets. Police were called and the money seized while detectives investigated their story that they found it.

There was a lot of smoke on the Malahat today, but not from any new fires. Rebel Drive On Valencia Slows

Spanish Loyalists Dig in at New Positions Across Highway

HENDAYE, France (AP)—The government's U-shaped line of hasty defences across the Teruel-Valencia highway slowed the first wave of the Spanish insurgents' six-day offensive today.

Dispatches from General Franco's headquarters admitted government resistance suddenly had stiffened as the militiamen's retreat brought them to the new defence line.

The insurgents were forced to reorganize their lines. Orders were given for an extraordinary effort on the part of the two flanks, on either side of the highway, to catch up with the centre.

SHELLS HIT EMBASSY

MADRID (AP)—The United States embassy building here was hit by four shells early today when insurgent artillery bombarded the city. Some damage was caused, but no one in the embassy building was hurt.

Elsewhere in the city seven persons were wounded.

The embassy has not been occupied by diplomatic officers since early in the war. (The ambassador, Claude G. Bowers, maintains offices at St. Jean de Luz, France.)

The southern Manitoba rust infection at all points was uniform on susceptible varieties, averaging 10 per cent in the lighter stands to 35 per cent in heavier wheat stands.

On rust resistant wheat, Thatcher and Renown, occasional traces of stem rust occurred. Durum rust infection varied from a trace to 3 per cent on most of the stems, though several durum fields near Brandon averaged up to 20 per cent.

INCREASE SEEN IN WHEAT RUST

WINNIPEG (CP)—Though cool nights and generally dry weather probably slowed down stem rust development to some extent in the last week, a very considerable increase in the amount of infection is evident, says the third rust report of the Dominion Laboratory of Plant Pathology here.

last night and were to apply at government offices there for the second installment of relief, which the government said would be given every 10 days to single unemployed men of British Columbia and to transients up to August 15, when the men agreed to accept transportation to the prairies for harvesting.

Mr. Pearson said each applicant for relief today in both interior towns would be required to prove to the government agent he was earnestly looking for work. He pointed out that many of the men who left Victoria 10 days ago remained in Vancouver until yesterday, moving in a body to interior towns for their second relief installment, as the government had announced no relief would be paid at the same place twice in succession.

Approximately 550 men were given relief in Vancouver, following their arrival from Victoria, under the new policy, Mr. Pearson said.

The Relief Project Workers' Union, the minister said, had succeeded in keeping many of the men together and had no doubt urged them to travel from town to town in organized groups.

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP)—Single unemployed from Vancouver today accepted an offer of three days' work on provincial roads at $3.20 a day and started to register at the employment office.

It is understood the offer, when first contemplated, was based on a smaller number of men coming here than actually arrived by the freight train from Vancouver yesterday. Their number is variously estimated up to 250.

Those accepted for work will start tomorrow and will receive $3.20 at the end of the first day's work. The balance of $6.40 will be paid at the end of the third day.

The men were quartered last night in a city-owned livestock building. Breakfast and lunch will be provided during tomorrow's working day.

Five men yesterday took jobs in district yards.

AT PENTICTON

PENTICTON, B.C. (CP)—About 40 transient unemployed men were, in Penticton today looking for work and members of the group said they would be joined by 100 others later in the day.

Relief grants are being given the men at the Employment Service of Canada office here.

Ten extra members of the British Columbia Police force have been placed in the city to ward off any undesirable consequences of the concentration of jobless.

EVENTS AT REGINA

REGINA (CP)—Regina's two Dominion Government buildings, the post office and the new federal building were under heavy Royal Canadian Mounted Police guard today following occupation of the post office lobby by 125 transients for one hour yesterday.

Action by Ottawa to provide relief or work or action by the men to emphasize their plight was still the alternative held out by the transients' organization.

Transient leaders said they were still holding to their promise the men would stage a further demonstration to attract public attention unless the government took steps to relieve the situation in Regina.

It was thought unlikely, however, the jobless would take any action before Thursday as the organization has called a public meeting to be held on Market Square at 8 o'clock Wednesday night for the purpose of explaining the men's reasons for entering the city.

OTHER FLIGHTS

MONTREAL—The flight of the Imperial Airways Mercury will be the first of eight transatlantic crossings this year, according to the schedules just received by the TransCanada Airlines. In addition to the Mercury, which will make three flights, three new planes, Albatross No. 1, Albatross No. 2 and Cabot, are scheduled to cross the ocean.

The Mercury will cross the ocean again in the middle of August and will close the season toward the end of October.

Shown in the picture from left to right are: E. W. Griffith, relief administrator for B.C.; R. R. ing the post office and again voicing demands for assistance.

Men quartered at the exhibition grounds stadium reported their number had increased by 15 this morning with the arrival of 15 more transients by freight train.

TO THE PRAIRIES

Received at the mayor's office was a letter from British Columbia transients, who said the provincial government there was preparing to transport the men en masse to the prairies by August 15 on the ground harvest work would be available.

At a citizens' committee meeting late Tuesday night, it was decided to ask the Dominion Government to provide for registration of federal transients, etc. registration to show the men's place of domicile.

Premier W. J. Patterson received a wire from Ottawa Wednesday relative to the Regina situation. Contents of the telegram were discussed at a meeting of the provincial cabinet this afternoon. Premier Patterson did not reveal the contents of the wire.

loaded and after separation the top plane will head across the Atlantic and the lower proceed with her cargo to New York.

Thanks to the survey flights by the giant flying boats Cambria and Caledonia last year, the Mercury's course was thoroughly charted across the North Atlantic. Based on latest meteorological observations here, weather maps were as complete and as reliable as science could make them.

A. J. Coster, the wireless operator, said that during the long water hop he would be in constant communication with ships and land stations.

Half a million persons have seen the exposition since its inauguration last March. Their Majesties lingered over the famous paintings until they were called away to attend the garden party tendered them in the Bois de Boulogne.

Many of the pictures were familiar to the royal couple, and in one instance they had the opportunity of seeing again their own property, a famous painting by Sir Thomas Lawrence which they had loaned to the exposition.

On their way to the Louvre the King and Queen passed under the small triumphal arch, first time royalty had passed under this arch since the days of France's Second Empire.

The garden party was in the rural setting of the Bagatelle Park, in the Bois de Boulogne.

Ropes strung between trees kept back crowds of men, women and children, anxious to catch a glimpse of the visiting King and Queen and the French government leaders and diplomatic notables attending the function.

Troop contingents formed an additional cordon around the chateau garden where the party took place. Sunny, warm weather favored the outdoor reception.

as "elder sister of all the communes of France, speaks for them at this moment in offering their homage of affection and respect to Your Majesty, august personification of all the cities of the British Empire."

In reply the King said: "It was with real emotion that I crossed the threshold of this Paris City Hall which evokes for me so many memories of our common past."

"My grandfather came here in 1903 and in a manner laid the foundations for the Entente between France and Great Britain."

"My father came here in April 1914, to consecrate that Entente, which shortly afterward received its baptism of fire."

"Today I come here in my turn, and I should note that it has lost none of its force or vitality."

"I beg you, gentlemen, to be so kind as to serve as our interpreters to the city of Paris and tell it how much the Queen and I have been affected by its welcome."

"We infinitely appreciate the grace and beauty of our reception, the friendly nature of wishes particularly touches us."

"I wish also, gentlemen, to extend to you warm thanks and gratitude."

THRONGS CHEER

After remaining a half-hour, the party reboarded the yacht and returned to the Quai d'Orsay.

A huge crowd thronged St. Louis Island opposite the City Hall landing stage, shouting "Le Roi! Le Roi! (The King! The King!)" and waving flags.

The King, showing no ill-effects from the strain of the arrival ceremonies yesterday and the dinner, despite his recent illness, left the Quai d'Orsay in the forenoon, a platoon of Republican Guards rendering military honors.

The royal automobile was escorted by mounted officers of the Republican Guard.

As before, thousands lined the route along which Their Majesties passed.

Cheered by thousands massed in the Place de la Concorde and the Tuilleries Gardens, the King and Queen later broke their round of official ceremonies to attend an exposition of British art in France's historic museum, the Louvre.

Half a million persons have seen the exposition since its inauguration last March. Their Majesties lingered over the famous paintings until they were called away to attend the garden party tendered them in the Bois de Boulogne.

Many of the pictures were familiar to the royal couple, and in one instance they had the opportunity of seeing again their own property, a famous painting by Sir Thomas Lawrence which they had loaned to the exposition.

On their way to the Louvre the King and Queen passed under the small triumphal arch, first time royalty had passed under this arch since the days of France's Second Empire.

The garden party was in the rural setting of the Bagatelle Park, in the Bois de Boulogne.

Ropes strung between trees kept back crowds of men, women and children, anxious to catch a glimpse of the visiting King and Queen and the French government leaders and diplomatic notables attending the function.

Troop contingents formed an additional cordon around the chateau garden where the party took place. Sunny, warm weather favored the outdoor reception.

The ministers' statement did not mention the outcome of their reported discussion of a plan offered by Chancellor Hitler for solution of the Czechoslovakian problem. Hitler's plan was said by sources close to the government to have been brought to Paris by the British Foreign Minister, who had a talk in London Monday night with Capt. F. Wiedeman, the Fuehrer's confidential envoy.

BERLIN NOT SATISFIED

BERLIN (AP)—The visit of Captain Fritz Wiedeman, Chancellor Hitler's adjutant, to London last week-end, was said to have shown a very conciliatory spirit and to be anxious for improvement of Anglo-German relations, but apparently did not go far enough with regard to the Czechoslovak problem.

According to the chancellery source, Lord Halifax balked at the idea of having anti-Semitic legislation enforced throughout Sudeten territory as one of the manifestations of Sudeten autonomy.

The informant stated that Wiedeman informed Lord Halifax of Chancellor Hitler's adamant insistence that Czechoslovakia must sever her alliance with Soviet Russia. Lord Halifax apparently remained noncommittal on that point.

HITLER'S PLEDGE

PARIS (CP)—A Havas news agency dispatch from London today said Foreign Secretary Halifax had been assured before leaving London for Paris with the King and Queen that Germany would not intervene in Czechoslovakia unless Sudeten German blood was spilled.

The dispatch quoted diplomatic circles as understanding this information was presented to the

Two young people were rescued from drowning at Vancouver beaches yesterday. Nineteen-year-old Pat Foster was dragged exhausted to the shore of Point Grey by two companions after he had attempted an after-dark swim in rough water. Donna Coates, 10, was saved by a lifeguard at Jericho Beach when a strong current swept her into deep water.

THREE LOSE LIVES

CARLYLE, Sask. (CP)—Three persons were killed near here today when an automobile was struck by an electric train at a level crossing. The victims were: Mrs. Clifford Hogg, 28, of Regina; Bilton Green, 52, Cannington Manor, farmer, and his step-daughter, Betty Honeyman, 16.

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.
A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

Alberta Brief
To Be Published

EDMONTON (CP)—Alberta's brief on Dominion-provincial relations which will be submitted to the Ottawa government is expected to be ready for publication about August 10, according to Hon. Solon E. Low, Provincial Treasurer and Acting Premier.

It is said that up to 10,000 copies of the brief will be circulated. Inquiries have been received in regard to it from eastern Canada, the United States and Great Britain.

Mr. Low said that 10,000 postcards were being forwarded to various parts of this and other countries and bearing the following announcement in part:

"The province did not present its brief to the Royal Commission on Dominion-provincial Relations for reasons which were given when that body was appointed. Subsequent events have vindicated the government's action."

"The case for Alberta is now being submitted to the sovereign people of Canada and their governments as a practical contribution to our national problems."

"The second part of the brief is devoted to a statement of the provincial government's case for monetary and social reform."

Gayda Explains
Duce's Aryanism

ROME (AP)—Virginio Gayda, authoritative Fascist editor, said yesterday that United States Jews, together with those of France, Great Britain and Russia, were responsible for the Fascist race policy.

This policy, announced July 14, declared Italians are Aryans and that Jews do not belong to the Italian race. Despite resemblances between this policy and Nazi Aryanism, Gayda denied Italy's doctrine was influenced by Germany.

Informed circles saw a possibility that the Fascist race doctrine soon might pass from the academic to the practical state with the adoption of laws restricting marriage between Italians and Jews.

Quebec Parties Evade Issue of Modern Education Until People Ask Reason For Their Distress

By J. B. McGEACHY
No. 9

The Liberal party of Quebec was in convention in Quebec city when I left the pleasant metropolis of Montreal recently. That in itself, I think, is a sign that Facism has not arrived in French Canada and that democracy is still in flower. At least the Quebec opposition can hold a meeting—which isn't true in Italy.

The Liberals governed Quebec from 1897 to 1936. Now they hold 13 seats to Duplessis's 77 in the Quebec legislature. No third party has a seat. In fact, no third party was even a contestant for office in the 1936 election. One Labor man, two Communists, a C.C.F. nominee and a few assorted independents caused the very small number of three-cornered fights in the 90 constituencies. They were all soundly beaten.

This means—in spite of the multiplicity of factions in Quebec and the confused dir of Quebec political debate—that the Liberal party is the only effective challenge of Duplessis in the field today. In an election this year or in two years only the Liberals would stand a chance of removing Duplessis. Accordingly, Montreal has been speculating keenly on what the Liberals would do at Quebec city.

From people of sundry beliefs I heard the same story about what they ought to do. The Liberals needed "un homme neuf"—a new man—for leader, I was told, and they needed to take a bold, new line of policy. Three men I talked to—a young Liberal politician, an independent editor and an extremely intelligent Communist organizer—agreed on these points. The Liberal party, they all said, had to have new blood and new ideas or stay in the wilderness for a generation and maybe disappear from politics.

TURN THEM OUT

By an "un homme neuf" they meant a man not connected in any way with the Taschereau of 1920-36. Whether that regime was corrupt is beside the point. It has that reputation; certainly it collected a large number of hangers-on and certainly it lost every Liberal attribute but the name.

The 1936 vote for Duplessis was a vote to turn out "la vieille clique"—the old gang. Duplessis's party was called l'Union Nationale—and still is—because it contained dissident Liberals who had deserted Taschereau as well as Tories. The man in the Montreal street will tell you now that the old gang was a gang of robbers. That is unquestionably popular opinion. Informed people say there were honest men in the Taschereau cabinet. Nevertheless, the old gang will never win another election in Quebec. Or so I was told.

I talked with Roger Ouimet in his Montreal law office. He was going to Quebec as a delegate. As a son-in-law of Ernest Lapointe, he belongs in politics. He was a Liberal who quit the old gang to join the Union Nationale, but now he has quit Duplessis. In his thirties, Mr. Ouimet is a cultivated and amiable man. I thought he looked too fine, not tough enough, for politics, but there is fire in his voice.

"What about the future of the Liberal party?" I asked him. "The future is the valley of humiliation," he said, "unless we throw out the old gang. Those reactionary Tories—how do you say it?—millstones around our necks. We must be truly Liberal. We must take a stand against what has been done to our province for the last 40 years." He said that with honest warmth and indignation.

THROUGH WITH DUPLESSIS

As for Duplessis, whom he regarded for a time as a suitable alternative to the old gang, Mr. Ouimet now calls him "the worst premier we ever had." He gave me his personal opinion of Duplessis. "He is a narrow and vindictive man. He is like a spoiled child, like a weak child who has always been maltreated by his fellows and now has a complex. His cabinet are nonentities—all but Leduc are in the highways and department, and he is at outs with Leduc. He is not at all representative of French Canada. I am completely disgusted with his performance."

I asked Mr. Ouimet if church support for the corporatist brand of Facism would help Duplessis to stay in power. (Duplessis's labor laws, even more than his padlock law, are regarded by many as incipient Facism.) "Facism," said Mr. Ouimet, will never take in Quebec. Its strength has been greatly exaggerated. But please—his voice warmed again—"when you speak of support for corporatism in your article, please make a distinction between the church and the clergy." I asked him to explain.

"That is a distinction hardly ever made outside Quebec," he said. "It is not made often enough here. Let me speak of myself. I am imbued with the Roman Catholic faith, but in matters of opinion, in matters of politics, I may disagree with my bishop. I have had occasion to tell him so. If you attack my church, my religion, I must defend it. If you say this or that member of the clergy is reactionary in politics, I may agree. Do not imagine that the clergy dictate to the French-Canadians in political matters. If my archbishop is a corporatist, I differ from him. Remember that in 1897, when our clergy advised us to vote Conservative, the Liberal party swept Quebec. Now will you please," he asked me again, "make the distinction clear?" So here it is in print, and—I hope—perfectly clear.

Since I talked with Mr. Ouimet, the Liberals have held their convention. As leader, they elected Adelard Godbout. In their platform they put votes for women (Quebec women are not yet enfranchised provincially); abolition of the provincial upper house (Quebec still has a bicameral legislature); improved teaching of English in Quebec schools; public ownership and development of power resources not yet alienated. And the platform denounced Duplessis's labor laws.

REAL ISSUES EVADED

Whether these results would satisfy Mr. Ouimet's prescription for the party I do not know. I would say they do—in part. Mr. Godbout is 44 years old, a farmer and expert agronomist, by common report an honest man—but he was six years in the Taschereau cabinet and he was Taschereau's nominee for the leadership when Taschereau resigned in 1936. The platform is progressive so far as it goes—but it does not mention the padlock law and, on education, it evades the genuine issues: Should education in Quebec be made a state concern and should attendance be compulsory?

Mr. Ouimet's opinion of the convention I cannot give, but I can quote another Montreal man who told me the Liberal party needed "un homme neuf" and new ideas—Jean Charles Harvey, editor of Le Jour. Mr. Harvey's verdict on the convention is "not bad." He salutes Mr. Godbout as a man of integrity and gifts. "It would have been easier to reunite the party and to organize victory," writes Mr. Harvey, "with a new man than with a member of the old cabinet—but this new man was not to be found." Mr. Godbout, says Mr. Harvey sadly, will never bring back to the party the dissidents who left Taschereau for the Union Nationale.

JEAN CHARLES
DISAPPOINTED

The platform disappoints my friend Jean Charles. I quote from his heartfelt article:

"No real and lasting progress is possible in a nation without the fruitful action of personalities, and personalities do not flourish without adequate and rational education. Our education is neither adequate nor rational. We judge a tree by its fruits. The fruits are bad."

"Neither Mr. Duplessis nor Mr. Godbout has dared, or will dare, to attack the problem. I am aware that before the convention, and even during it, timid efforts were made to introduce the educational problem into the new platform. But that awkward question was carefully and expertly shelved."

"Surely and slowly, we move toward the formation of a more progressive party—a party which will have the courage, in the midst of difficulties, to lift the bushel under which the politicians of all shades have hidden the truth."

"For that we must choose the moment when the people, crushed by miseries, ask the reason for their distress. We will do our best to answer."

WEDNESDAY, JULY 20, 1938 Week-end Shock Politics IT HAS BECOME THE CUSTOM OF Reichsfuehrer Hitler to apply his shock tactics in politics at the week-end. He seems to think that if he springs a surprise on a Saturday, when people are thinking about anything and everything except world af- fairs, he will be able to make some capital out of it before ministers are back at their desks on Monday morning. But last Satur- day's uproar from Berlin about troop mobilization by Czechoslovakia was nothing more than an attempt to get the British and French governments to persuade the Prague authorities that it would be wise for them to go the limit in concessions to the Sudeten German minority. Field Marshal Hermann Goering had dropped the hint through the columns of his own newspaper that it ought to be a comparatively simple matter to "squeeze" Prime Minister Chamberlain in view of his dilly-dallying attitude toward the bombing by Spanish insurgents of British ships. But Germany's last week-end trick was a failure. This is not to suggest that it will not be tried again at some future date; but perhaps the authorities in Berlin may consider it better policy to wait and see what concessions the Prague government intends to make rather than to try to force the issue by irritating Great Britain and France—especially in view of the festivities which began in Paris yesterday—both of which are desirous of doing all that lies in their power to assist in effecting a fair settlement of the Sudeten problem. Whether it is possible to overcome the deadlock and compose the difference be- tween what Sudeten German leader Konrad Henlein demands and what the Czechoslo- vakian government is prepared to include in its Nationalities Statute—now under consideration—remains to be seen. Four of the German demands already have been re- jected, the principal one being for full self- government or autonomy for the German areas; and the others were: Control by the Germans of the police in their areas; the breaking up of all ministries into sections ac- cording to nationalities; and reparation for all damages suffered by the German popula- tion since 1918. It is understood that the government's proposals include a scheme of decentralization by which the powers of dis- trict and provincial councils would be materially extended. Until the minorities problem in Czechoslo- vakia has been satisfactorily solved, of course, the situation in Central Europe will remain a source of danger which clumsy handling might translate into a clash of arms with unpredictable consequences. It is the recognition of this possibility which encouraged Great Britain and France to make representations to the Hodza govern- ment at Prague in the hope that greater expedition toward solution might be as- sured. But neither Westminster nor the Quai d'Orsay intends to be stampeded or unduly influenced by week-end high-pres- sure politics in Berlin. Germany's New Tactics THE QUESTION IS BEING ASKED IN diplomatic quarters to what extent, if any, Germany has been applying economic pressure to Czechoslovakia in recent weeks. It is being denied in Berlin that this policy has been either adopted or contemplated. The fact remains, however, that before the annexation of Austria by Germany the Aus- trian state railways secured their coal sup- plies from Czechoslovakia. Now these coal supplies for the railways are obtained from the Ruhr. The use of Czechoslovak coal for the Danube steamers is also being discontinued. Coupled with this loss there is likelihood of a further blow to Czechoslovakia when the Polish- German trade agreement, at present being arranged, comes into operation. According to forecasts, Polish exports to Austria will have to be sent direct to the Reich, thereby avoiding the use of the Czechoslovak rail- ways, although transit by that route would be several hundred miles shorter. Germany's complaint against other powers was that they were pursuing a policy of encirclement towards her; but she herself seems bent upon isolating Czechoslo- vakia as far as possible. Alcoholism and Complexes PSYCHOLOGY, WHICH HAS BEEN brought to bear on most human troubles, is resorted to by Genevieve Park- hurst in the July Harper's to throw light upon the case of the individual, whose over- indulgence in alcohol is so upsetting. "Generally speaking," she writes, "alco- holism is a condition by which the afflicted person loses control of himself and, to one degree or another, of his mental faculties. While it is induced by the drinking of alcoholic liquor, the drinking is only a sym- ptom of a deeper-seated malady, the source of which is a maladjustment in the drinker's personality—that is, in the full circle of his physical, mental, emotional makeup. This 'imbalance' affects him in such a way that he is unable to face the difficulties confront- ing him in his daily life. In the impulse to avoid what he cannot handle he seeks refuge in alcohol until, caught up by it, he begins to deteriorate." Needless to say, in referring to alcoholics, Miss Parkhurst does not have in mind the moderate drinker. While there are those who say that the first drink always lays the drinker open to hazard of chronic inebriety, it can be argued that, by his habitual moderation, the temperate drinker has offered some evidence that he has a personality fairly well insured against the vice of drunkenness. Miss Parkhurst proposes that we turn the whole matter of alcoholism over to the public health authorities, and to the psy- chologists and psychiatrists. Whether to analyze the alcoholic's mental knot will be to resolve its difficulties, remains to be seen. We have an idea that to hold the mirror up to the chronic tippler might have a healthful effect; that it would show him that he is obviously mistaken if he thinks he is going the right way to get rid of what Miss Park- hurst says he has—the old inferiority complex. What Darwin Neglected DARWIN WAS NOT A COMPLETE evolutionist. In his epochal book, "The Descent of Man," he considered the evolu- tion of man's physical nature only, but neglected the mental and social sides, de- clares Dr. William E. Ritter, emeritus pro- fessor of zoology at the University of California. Darwin recognized that these non- physical aspects of man's life are definitely parts of his nature, and as such must have been subject to evolutionary influences and resulting changes as his head or his hands or his language. Yet, says Dr. Ritter, "he never tackled the problem in a detailed way. He seems to have regarded it as metaphysics and as such quite unsuited to his special interest and ability as a student." Dr. Ritter himself refuses to acknowledge a gulf between the so-called physical and metaphysical. In his recent studies he takes the position that "knowing, thinking and understanding are kinds of activity as in- separable from living things as are nutri- tionalizing, metabolizing, and reproducing." Dr. Ritter considers as most unfortunate the rather general mode of regarding living things as mechanisms, because the more naive mechanists, at least, unconsciously make it almost impossible to look upon mental and social phenomena as being really parts of human nature. Their explanations either over-simplify them, almost to the point of denying their existence, or they set up a body-versus-mind dualism that is re- pugnant to sound philosophy. This way of regarding living organisms as machines was started a couple of cen- turies ago by Descartes, a French philoso- pher. Worth noting, in Dr. Ritter's opinion, is the fact that Descartes was not originally a naturalist but a mathematician, therefore having a bias in favor of simple, exact descriptions. Darwin, a "natural" natural- ist, did much to initiate the modern drift away from the Cartesian mechanistic specu- lations. Parisians are the latest to take up gas masks. It is comforting to know that Paris no longer dictates all the styles over here. Just invented is a device which rolls the dice automatically when one whistles. A thing like that is no good these days unless it does the whistling, too. Dr. James Kendall, professor of chem- istry at Edinburgh, points out in his new book, "Breathe Freely," that in the World War only 1,200,000 were injured by gas and only 100,000 killed. Noncombatants will be delighted to be thus reassured by an expert that poison gas isn't nearly as dangerous as supposed. THE BRITISH PEOPLE AT THEIR BEST From Ottawa Journal The really striking thing, and heartening, about this whole Sandys military secrets incident in the British Parliament is its revelation of the determination of the British people to make no terms with any attack on freedom, no matter whence it comes. Here in Canada, one fears, the im- plication of a Minister of the Crown in such a matter would have been defended by the ministry, would have become a party con- troversy. There was no party controversy in England; Conservative M.P.'s joined with opposition M.P.'s and Conservative news- papers with Liberal and Labor newspapers in upholding the rights of free criticism. The public was reminded that if it had not been for newspaper publicity during the last war, liberty, and probably the war, would have been lost, that "if the truth about in- trigues, about the incompetence and the mis- placed vanity of generals had been alto- gether hidden, the ghastly horrors of Pas- chendaele might have been repeated until the Germans were in Whitehall." Said the London New Statesman: "Waste, inefficiency, corruption or ty- ranny in any department of state can seldom be effectively exposed without the use of information obtained from some servant of the state. The most important existing check on maladministration is the right of the member of Parliament to ask questions and to state the facts without fear of pun- ishment to either himself or his informant. If the Official Secrets Act can be used to override this parliamentary privilege, as well as to shut down well-informed... Once the government is allowed to confuse a danger to the state with danger to the government of the day the vital principle of constitutional government as opposed to despotism is surrendered." This, summed up, is the British people at their best; the people who, in defence of their own and human liberty, have pulled thrones down and set thrones up, and scat- tered the bones of their sons over the face of the earth. It is a spirit we here in Can- ada should try never to forget.

Loose Ends By BRUCE HUTCHISON

BLOOD SPORT

THERE ARE SO MANY dead animals along the main highways of this island now that the destruction seems almost too wholesale to be accidental. Everywhere you see a few feathers beside a pulverized mass of flesh, a few grey hairs that were once a squirrel, a long tail which used to belong to a rat. You would almost think that motorists have developed a new blood sport, requiring daring and skill to run their front tires over any form of life which strays across the road.

How many young game birds are killed on the Island Highway every day would be an interesting calculation. The total loss must be heavy. Today I rode on the highway with a fellow who spent two hours cursing every man who destroyed a game bird. Whenever we came to a pile of feathers on the road this conservationist would almost break down and weep, and when we saw a covey of live birds he would stop and talk to them as if they were his own children. When he saw one of those stray cats who inhabit the wilderness, living on birds, he wanted to pursue it through the woods to destroy it. He was a nature lover, a protector of young bird life, a true conservationist. And every autumn he goes forth with a shotgun and gets his limit of grouse on the first day of the season and most other days.

COMEDIANS

THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL of Canada, Lord Tweedsmuir, says some very good things. If he weren't limited by his office he would say still better ones. As it is, he must talk in generalities which, however, contain more pith in them than the speeches of the politicians. The other day His Excellency laid down a prescription for fighting the idea of dictatorship in this country, and it was very simple. He said we should laugh at it.

"Humor," said he, "is the best weapon with which to fight pedantry and vainglory and false rhetoric. In a time like the present there is a tendency for popular leaders to exalt themselves into a kind of bogus deity and to think their shallow creeds a divine revelation. The answer to that sort of folly is laughter. Above all, let us be ready to laugh at ourselves when necessary."

The tragic thing is that most of the world seems to have lost its sense of humor. No nation with any real humor in its bones would tolerate a Hitler or a Mussolini for a moment. If their posturings and swaggerings had been laughed at in the first place, the world would have been saved a lot of trouble. We laughed at them, but the unfortunate Germans and Italians took them seriously and now the behavior which used to be considered childish is accepted as something very grand.

When Mussolini makes faces from balconies and leers like a cranky child it is accepted as a mark of genius. When Mr. Goering dresses himself like an usher in one of the better New York movies and goes about like a child playing grown-ups with clothes from the attic, the world, instead of laughing, thinks that here is another Caesar. (The original Caesar went all over Europe in a nightshirt). When Hitler screams like a maniac-depressive into a microphone, the world trembles, though a child would be spanked if he tried it. Until now all forms of higher madness have been exalted into wisdom, and lunacy stamps and shrieks and leers through the world, worshipped blindly by the multitude.

It is too late to laugh now. If a German or an Italian or a Russian laughs, he gets liquidated. But we can still laugh in this country when some amusing fellow in Quebec imagines he is going to be a Canadian Hitler. If we have enough sense of humor left as a nation, there will be no danger from such comedians. The danger is in taking them too seriously. But our sense of humor everywhere has worn thin of late years, and unless it improves the comedians will become a real menace. There is always danger in a country which takes that delightfully whimsical fun-maker, Mr. Aberhart, seriously.

FAILURE OF ERSATZ

Hitler failed his neck in on his Czechoslovakian adventure, diplomatic circles buzz, because in the Austrian Anschluss hundreds of small army tanks, in which he had placed major faith, broke down and clogged the highways. The reason: Because Germany produces only low-grade ores, Nazi scientists developed a composition as a substitute for the steel and copper used in the best mechanical bearings—and the substitute couldn't stand up under severe stress.

SALE OF HARDY'S BOOKS

From Manchester Guardian
 Thomas Hardy's library was sold last week at Hodgson's, in Chancery Lane, for £2,700. This was a high price. Indeed the auctioneers themselves were surprised, nor could they remember when they had last sold the books belonging to a mere writer for anything near this amount. The sale itself was in so far as any sale could be—a high tribute to Hardy.

The highest bid was £255 for "The Little Minister." Probably the words on the flyleaf, "Thomas Hardy from J. M. Barrie," had doubled its value. T. E. Lawrence's books had also profited from their inscription to Hardy. "The Seven Pillars realized £205, and the translation of the Odyssey ("translating the Odyssey for wages," as Lawrence wrote) realized £41. One hundred and fifty-five pounds was bid for Galsworthy's "Man of Property," and £41 for the Forsyte Saga.

Altogether scarcely a first edition lacked its tribute to Hardy; whether the florid one of that sentimental poet laureate Alfred Austin (who spoke of Hardy's "rare felicity, just observation and romantic imagination that never fails") or the more delicate compliments of George Gissing, Max Beerbohm or Barrie himself.

King Follows Precedents in R.A.F. Policy

Condensed from the Windsor Star (Independent)
BOILED DOWN TO ITS ESSENtials Mr. MacKenzie King takes this stand:

1. Canada will not allow Great Britain to establish and control military, air or naval posts or bases in Canada.

2. Canada is ready and willing to co-operate in every possible way with Great Britain, and Canada is only too glad to allow pilots from Great Britain to train in stations of bases in Canada that are controlled by the Canadian Government.

In making known that policy Mr. King is only saying that Canada wants to control the Dominion of Canada. And Canada would lose control of the Dominion the moment 'garrisons of imperial troops were placed here. That would put us under the military rule of London, even as we were in that position until 1900.

But, Canada is prepared to let as many troops train here as Britain wishes, just so long as the control of the units is maintained by Ottawa. Even the most ardent imperialist can hardly find fault with that policy.

ABOUT 1871 London began to withdraw her troops from Canada. She did so on the understanding that she would still keep control of the Canadian general staff and would take some steps to aid Canada in case of defensive needs. That, of course, was during the regime of Sir John A. Macdonald as Prime Minister of Canada. And it was under the man who declared, "A British subject I was born, a British subject I will die," that the first movement of British imperial troops out of Canada began.

The troop movement continued after Sir Wilfrid Laurier became Prime Minister. In 1900 there were still a few imperial soldiers doing garrison duty in Canada. In that year these troops were withdrawn and the fortifications and other military works at Halifax on the Atlantic, and Esquimaux on the Pacific, were handed over to Canada.

WHEN THE imperial troops withdrew in 1900, London still held a measure of control by appointing the chief of the Canadian general staff. In 1900 this officer was General Hutton. He thought that as he was an imperial officer he was higher and mightier than the Canadian Government. He wrote letters that were made public, delivered speeches and generally criticized the Laurier administration and the handling of military matters in Canada. Sir Wilfrid was so incensed he demanded General Hutton's recall. London recalled the general.

In 1904 the Earl of Dundonald, who had succeeded General Hutton, fell into the same error. He disliked the way the Canadian army was handled. He said there was too much political and partisan interference with the militia. Laurier insisted that Dundonald be withdrawn at once. Since that time, a Canadian has been the chief of the Canadian general staff. Regardless of the accuracy of the Dundonald charges, the affair was simply a case of whether or not the imperial soldiers were to tell Parliament what to do, or whether the Canadian Parliament was to tell the imperial soldiers in Canada what to do.

THE BIGGEST step of all in Canada's keeping control of her military affairs came through Sir Sam Hughes, as minister of militia, and Sir Robert Borden in 1914.

The story is told in the recently published Official History of the Canadian Forces. A Canadian officer who was present at the famous interview relates:

"Sir Sam marched up to Kitchener's desk. When he arrived at the desk Kitchener spoke up quickly and in very stern voice: 'Hughes, I see you have brought over a number of men from Canada; they are, of course, without training and this would apply to their officers; I have decided to divide them up among the British regiments; they will be of very little use to us as they are.'"

"Sir Sam replied: 'Sir, do I understand you to say that you are going to break up these Canadian regiments that came over? Why, it will kill recruiting in Canada!'"

"Kitchener answered: 'You have your orders, carry them out.'"

"Sir Sam replied: 'I'll be damned if I will,' turned on his heel and marched out." Sir Sam walked right out and got in touch with Sir Robert Borden. The then Prime Minister started to work and instead of the Canadian regiments being broken up, they remained intact and went to France to write one of the most gallant and thrilling pages ever inscribed in military history.

IN 1938 MR. KING is simply adhering to the policy which was begun by the Conservatives under Sir John A. Macdonald, carried on by the Liberals under Sir Wilfrid Laurier, confirmed by the Conservatives under Sir Robert Borden.

There is no question of loyalty to the British Empire at stake. Canada always has been loyal to the Empire and Canadians always will be loyal to the Empire. London need never have any fear on that score.

Canada wants to be self-governing, which includes Canadian authority over troops within the Dominion. Surely, there can be no quarrel with that policy.

SEA SERPENT SEASON

From New York Sun
 What may be accepted as the opening of the sea serpent season is reported from Carnoustie in Scotland, where a King of the Herrings 18 feet long landed the other day to be escorted by the University of Dundee to the South Kensington Museum in London. He is the longest of the 20 or 30 Kings of the Herrings that have been taken from the waters of the British Isles, exceeding his nearest rival by a foot and a half. Elsewhere this fish—sometimes called the oar fish—attains 30 feet. At South Kensington this noble specimen occupies dignified quarters near the Wright brothers airplane, which should be in this country and isn't.

The King of the Herrings swims with an undulating motion, holding its head proudly above the surface and lifting the red-tipped anterior rays of its dorsal fin high over the wave, while the filaments of its ventral fins play with the sea. Altogether, it makes a most acceptable sea serpent.

Let it not be overlooked that Carnoustie is in Scotland, which is also decorated by Loch Ness, where only a little time ago the Loch Ness monster displayed itself in a highly creditable manner, exciting the curiosity of all and terrifying man. The Loch Ness monster has been in retirement, resting from its labors on behalf of folk-nature study. Perhaps he will get around to South Kensington some day to see the Carnoustie King of the Herrings.

IF FRANCE GAVE WAY

From Montreal Star
 We should cast our eyes abroad and see how frail are the dykes that keep the flood from breaking through and drowning democracy everywhere. Suppose France gave way—less than 40,000,000 people on the continent of Europe. That would carry German overlordship from Danzig to Gibraltar. In that case, what would keep all the Balkan and Baltic nations from scurrying to cover under the Nazi crooked cross? Russia? Russia, alone and with Japan on her eastern flank. Hardly.

BARBED WIRE IN PALESTINE

From New York Sun
 Nearly $450,000 is to be spent in Palestine in constructing a barbed-wire wall along the frontier where Lebanon, Syria and Trans-Jordan impinge upon Palestine in the hope that Tegar's Wall, named after Sir Charles Tegar, its prime advocate, may be effective in keeping smugglers, agitators, gun runners, terrorists and fugitives from justice from using the border zone as a base of operations. A dispatch to the London Times from Jerusalem says that "specifications of the plan call for 50 miles of barbed-wire fence, varying in construction according to local conditions. The standard barrier apparently will consist of two parallel fences six feet high and five feet apart. Each of the fences will have meshed wire at the bottom and barbed wire above, and the space between the two fences will be criss-crossed with barbed wire and filled with loose masses of wire. Where local conditions call for an even more formidable barrier than this there will be three parallel fences."

UNBABBLING THE BROOK

From Toronto Star
 For a few weeks George Bernard Shaw, his doctors have told him, must not read, write or talk. In other words, he must cease being George Bernard Shaw.

MAYOR OPENS YOUTH HOSTEL

Mount Douglas Park Camp
First of Its Kind in Province;
Fifty Visitors Present

In officially opening the Mount Douglas Youth Hostel last evening to a party of 40 eastern United States young people and 20 Seattle girls, Mayor Andrew McGavin welcomed the visitors and said that he was glad to see the establishment of a Canadian Youth Hostel Association in that it was another link in the bringing together of Canadian and American young people.

Alan Chambers, chairman of the youth hostel committee, spoke briefly to the group in welcoming them to the only hostel in British Columbia at the present time. The Mount Douglas Hostel was originally constructed as the government forestry camp.

FROM EAST STATES

The group of 40 from the eastern United States came from every state on the eastern coast, from Florida to Maine. There are 23 girls and 17 boys in the party. Mr. and Mrs. Karl Kaufhold are in charge, with Bill Nelson as assistant.

This party met at East Northfield, Mass., the headquarters for the American Youth Hostel Association, on June 29, at which date they departed by bicycle for Montreal. Since that time they have journeyed across Canada by a special car of the Canadian National Railways, which was side-tracked at various spots of interest, from which points the party bicycled around the surrounding territory.

MAINLY STUDENTS

The party includes high school and college students and a few teachers. Each one has to pass a strict medical examination before starting, and the sum of $215.90 is paid at this time, which covers all expenses for the 63 days of travel. The traveling ticket takes $110.90 of this amount, and the rest is paid out by Mr. Kaufhold for meals, beds and accident insurance. Thirty dollars is also kept aside in case of emergency, and is returned at the finish of the trip providing it is not used. All arrangements are in the hands of Mr. Kaufhold, who has had past experience in conducting such tours in Germany as well as in this country.

A considerable number of this group have done hostel traveling in parts of Europe. Hostels there are more luxuriously fitted out, making the experience into a cheap form of travel instead of the real idea of the movement—to travel close to nature.

CARRY EQUIPMENT

The Mount Douglas Hostel is fitted out with a number of tents with wood floors for sleeping, a large kitchen and dining compartment, and a wash-house complete with four showers and cold running water. The parties sleep four or five in a tent, the girls assigned to one end of the camp and the boys the other. Volunteers are called each day to prepare the meals. Each member carries his own eating utensils and sleeping equipment, although these are usually provided in the hostels.

The average distance covered each day is 30 miles, and this will be done from the Mount Douglas hostel on for the rest of the trip by bicycle. The group will next go to San Juan Island International Youth Hostel and will then return here before departing for Seattle. From Seattle the principal points for stopping over will be Mount Rainier, Tacoma, Portland, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Grand Canyon, Santa Fe, Colorado Springs, Denver, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Parkersburg, Washington, D.C., Philadelphia and New York.

SEATTLE PARTY

The Seattle party arrived yesterday from the International Youth Hostel at San Juan. It includes 10 girls, students from Roosevelt High School and Lincoln High School. Seven of them will take the boat to Port Angeles tomorrow, while the other three will return to Seattle. The seven will then bicycle down the Olympic Peninsula coast before returning home.

There are many different similar routes for short trips that can be taken. Canadians can get membership cards which will allow them to make use of the youth hostels from Alf Batcheler, secretary of the youth hostel committee in B.C., at 604 Hall Building, Vancouver. Any information required may also be obtained through this source. An example of a short trip in this vicinity which would take in sufficient hostels would be from Victoria across to Port Angeles, then to Sequim, Port Ludlow, Brinnon, Allyn, Edmonds, Langley, Greenbank, Seaside Heights, Anacortes, Orcas, Roche Harbor to Mount Douglas. These places are all in Washington and British

Columbia

The committee organizing youth hostels in the province is made up of Alan Chambers, chairman; Alf Batcheler, secretary; Mrs. Maud Hammond, Mrs. Nellie McClung, Ian Eisenhardt, J. J. White, Joe McIntyre and Sam Roberts.

NOTED ARTIST SHOWING OILS

John Innes Shown in Spencer's

An interesting collection of the representative oils from the brush of John Innes of Vancouver, noted Canadian artist, is on display in the View Street windows of David Spencer Ltd. and is well worth the attention of admirers of contemporary Canadian art.

This veteran artist has a flair for western scenes, interpreting the varying moods of the mountains and the richness of its color with virility. His "Canyon Lights," with its convincing cloud and mist effects in a typical canyon in the Rockies; "Paradise Valley," with its distant snow-capped peaks and its nearer lush meadows; "Rocky Ranges," showing a group of horned mountain sheep, are all excellent examples of his landscape work.

Mr. Innes also recaptures something of the spirit of a vanishing west in his "Day's End," showing a colorful Indian sitting in contemplative mood watching the glories of the sunset over the mountains, while his cayuse grazes idly by; and in "Cattle Cruiser," with its lone cowboy ambling through the hills. Full of movement, too, is the striking study, "In the Path of The Thunder Gods," showing Indians riding at full haste before the advancing storm. The display is in charge of the artist's son.

NEW POLICY IS PRAISED

P. Mickleburgh Says Conservative Platform Will Benefit All Canadians

Every Canadian citizen would benefit from the new and progressive policy of the Conservative party—drafted at the recent Ottawa convention, said Percy Mickleburgh, president of the Saanich Conservative Association, at the conclusion of an interesting address on the highlights of the party at an association meeting last night at the Campbell Building.

The speaker, who attended the convention with his son, Bruce, delegate for the Young Conservatives, pointed out that the new policy was one with a background of essentials which had been tried and proved good in the past, with the addition of those necessary reforms to cope with the new requirements of these rapidly changing times. The convention, he said, moved along a steady course, not too far to the left and avoided drifts to the right.

Mr. Mickleburgh urged every Victorian to read, learn and digest the policy so that they would be able to better understand its progressive features. The convention had representation from one end of Canada to the other, all harmonious, all united to battle for the rejuvenated Conservative party at the next general election. The committee had studied the platform for months, and welded together ideas from branches in all parts of the Dominion to produce a worthwhile policy to guide the party.

He sketched some of the most important resolutions, that were brought up for discussion at the convention, which was attended by 1,800 delegates. With regard to the new leader, Hon. R. J. Manion, Mr. Mickleburgh said: "Dr. Manion is a scholar, a man who won renown for his services overseas. He is a man of vitality, a man of strength and one who was born a leader—a leader who is not too old to handle the task. I believe that before long Dr. Manion's name will be placed on the list of Canada's greatest statesmen. He has the confidence of all the people of Canada and promises us he will abide by the policy laid down by the convention."

Bruce Mickleburgh also gave his impressions of the big party.

Island Girl Married In East

Miss Christina Dobbin Bride of
Mr. J. H. McNulty

A pretty wedding of much interest to the bride's many friends on Vancouver Island took place at St. John's Church, Port Dalhousie, Ont. on Saturday last at 3.30, between Miss Christina Barkley Dobbin, daughter of Mrs. Dobbin and the late Rev. J. W. Dobbin of Qualicum Beach, V.I. to Mr. Jack Hepburne McNulty, son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. McNulty of Port Dalhousie.

Rev. J. A. Phillips performed the ceremony in the presence of a large congregation. Mr. Prynce Nesbitt, cousin of the groom, was at the organ. The church was beautifully decorated with pink and white carnations.

BRIDE IN ORGANDIE
Given in marriage by Mr. J. D. McCaul, the bride was lovely in her bouffant gown of white organdie over pink mousseline-de-soie, with a matching, high-necked bolero. Her veil of French bridal net was held in place with white organza flowers, and she carried a bouquet of pink and white antirrhinum.

Miss Marianne R. Dobbin of Victoria, sister of the bride, was her only bridesmaid, wearing a long, full-skirted gown of aquamarine embroidered organdie, with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of pale pink, yellow and white antirrhinum. Mr. Gerald E. McNulty was his brother's groomsman, and Mr. Eric M. Johnson of Toronto and Mr. Jack Hoople of St. Catherine's were ushers.

RECEPTION HELD
After the ceremony a largely-attended reception was held at "Lynnwood," St. Catherine's, the rooms being massed with gladioli and other garden flowers. Mrs. McNulty, mother of the bridegroom, assisted the happy couple in receiving, and were for the occasion a gown of navy sheer with French embroidery, a wide-brimmed hat to match, and a corsage bouquet of rosebuds.

The bride's table was decorated in white and silver. Mrs. W. A. Laidlaw of Hamilton and Mrs. C. L. Anderson of St. Catherine's poured tea and coffee, and the ushers assisted in serving the guests.

Later the bride and groom left in their car for a short visit to the United States and will spend the remainder of their honeymoon at Lake Morrison, Ont., and in the fall will make their home at St. Catherine's.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included: Mr. and Mrs. J. D. McCaul, Mrs. L. McCaul, Miss Winnifred McCaul, Dr. and Mrs. F. F. Tisdall, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Johnson, Mrs. T. P. Johnson, Mrs. Nell Johnson, Miss Florence Mitchell, Miss Marion Blake and Mr. Bruce Laing, all of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Laidlaw, Misses Audrey and Eva Laidlaw, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Thousands At Party At Government House

His Honor and Mrs. Hamber Entertain Huge Crowd of Island and Mainland Guests at Garden Party Today; Two Bands in Attendance; Lovely Frocks

Given brilliant weather, a beautiful setting, perfect arrangements and a gay and congenial crowd, the garden party is the ideal form of entertainment for midsummer days. All of these ingredients, in full measure and overflowing, were combined in the delightful party given by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. E. W. Hamber at Government House this afternoon.

The first large social function of the summer, it drew over 3,000 guests from all parts of Vancouver Island and the mainland, a large contingent coming over from Vancouver to enjoy the renowned hospitality of the popular host and hostess.

IN FLORAL CREPE

His Honor and Mrs. Hamber received the apparently never-ending line of guests on the lawn before the summer house. Mrs. Hamber wearing a lovely imported formal gown of floral crepe, patterned all over in multi-colored flowers, with elbow-length sleeves. Her wide-brimmed hat of pink straw was trimmed with pink flowers and banded across the front of the crown with green, which passed under the brim at the back to form a snood. She wore slippers of matching green and her ornaments were a rope of pearls and pearl earrings.

In attendance were His Honor's aides, including Col. R. G. Parkhurst, Lieut.-Commander Donaldson, R.C.N., and Lieut.-Col. H. F. G. Letson, all of Vancouver; and Brigadier Sutherland Brown, Major M. W. Turner, Col. Vincent McKenna, Lieut.-Col. Hugh Allan, Capt. N. Van der Vliet, Capt. Hobart Molson and Mr. Hew Paterson.

TWO BANDS

Throughout the afternoon, gay music by the two bands of the 5th B.C. Regiment and the Canadian Scottish Regiment provided a background for the exchange of the social amenities.

The scene was a gay and colorful one as the many women guests, in lovely gowns of lace, floral crepe and chiffons, and debutantes in flowing organdies and ruffled muslins in colors vying with the brilliant flower beds, paraded across the emerald-green lawns, or chatted over the tea-cups at the small tables placed beneath the shade of the trees.

Adding to the gala effect was the enormous marquee of green, grey and orange stripes which had been erected across the lower lawn. Here refreshments were served from long tables beautifully arranged with huge bowls of gladioli, zinnias, delphinium and other summer flowers, gay hanging baskets overhead enhancing the delightful effect.

VANCOUVER GUESTS

Among the Vancouver guests over for the affair are: Mrs. John Hamber's mother, Mrs. John

The bride, who was unattended, was given away by her mother, and Mr. Elot McCully, Vancouver, was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Meads left immediately after the ceremony for a motor tour in the United States, and on their return will make their home in Esquimalt.

ROBINSON—BUTTERWORTH

A quiet wedding was solemnized on Saturday evening last at 7.30 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Robinson of Port Alberni, when Dorothy Gordon, eldest daughter, was united in holy matrimony to L. S. (Jack) Butterworth, only son of Mrs. M. Butterworth of Victoria. Rev. A. McLean conducted the ceremony.

The bride entered the beautifully decorated room to the wedding march played by Mrs. McMinn of William Head. She was gown in a white crepe and duchess lace dress of redingote style, and wore a long white veil and a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of pink roses, sweet-peas and maidenhair ferns.

Miss Jean Robinson, sister of the bride, was the only attendant, and wore a gown of apple green sheer with mauve trimmings and carried a bouquet of mauve and white sweet peas and baby's breath. Mr. J. Smith of Victoria supported the groom.

The reception was held at the home of the bride immediately after the ceremony. The large table was decorated with pink streamers and pink sweet peas,

Metropolitan W.M.S. Are Entertained

The W.M.S. of the Metropolitan Church met for their July meeting at the home of Mrs. H. O. English, Dewdney Street, Uplands. A number of members with several visitors, filled the beautifully decorated reception rooms. The president, Miss Grace Baker, was in the chair. The meeting opened with a hymn and the prayer for peace, led by Rev. R. M. Thompson, and a special prayer for our missionaries, Miss Bock and Miss Coltart. The report from the treasurer was adopted. Mrs. Cliff reported 63 calls made on sick, hospital and strangers; the program committee, Mrs. J. E. Redman's group, then took charge. A hymn was sung with Mrs. Frederick King at the piano. Mrs. Bates led in prayer. The scripture was read by Mrs. Jack Scott. Two solos by Miss Mary Samuelson were enjoyed with Mrs. Grace Deaville at the piano. The study book chapter, given by Mrs. Seeley, was very helpful. Miss Marianna Samuelson, aged 10, from Cobble Hill, gave two readings. The guest speaker, Rev. R. M. Thompson of Fort Rouge United Church, Winnipeg, gave an inspiring address on his work in the east, touching upon the missionary and maintenance fund which is badly needed.

Mrs. W. L. Smith then proposed a vote of thanks to the speaker, soloist, and Mrs. English, for the use of her home. Mrs. Graham, sister of the Rev. R. M. Thompson, also a great helper in the Presbyterial, led in prayer, and Rev. Mr. Churchill closed in prayer.

A delightful tea was served on the lawn and thanks were given to Mrs. W. J. Cullum and her social committee.

and centred with a three-tier wedding cake.

The out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mrs. McMinn of William Head, Mrs. M. Butterworth, Mrs. R. Jury and small daughter, all of Victoria. Mr. and Mrs. Butterworth will make their home in Port Alberni.

Woman Leads London Band

Miss Coleridge-Taylor
First to Take
Conductor's Baton

LONDON—It is still unusual in this country to see a woman conducting an open-air orchestra. But Canadian visitors to London will have the opportunity this summer. Miss Avril Coleridge-Taylor, who is the first woman to conduct a band in Hyde Park, will be busy.

Probably Miss Coleridge-Taylor is the first woman in England to tackle such heavy jobs as the conducting of municipal orchestras or military bands. She started off on this career by accident. She went to a seaside resort to supervise the rehearsal of one of her compositions, took the baton for a moment and conducted so well the conductor invited her down to take his place on the day of the concert.

With such women in the limelight there is little wonder that a prominent preacher, Rev. C. B. Canning, came out with a much quoted passage in a recent public address: "There is a strong temptation for men to comment mournfully on the approaching end of the male dynasty. Dorothy Sayers, Laura Knight and Greta Garbo have stolen all our thunder and there is no object that gives men so abiding a sense of guilt as a woman policeman."

Yet the metropolitan police have had great difficulty in recruiting women for that police force. The uniform is not becoming, the boots in particular make the women officers' feet look double their size. Within the last month, however, two romances have blossomed into matrimony in the force and two couples of police constables have marched to the wedding march. Well publicized, such announcements should assist in recruiting.

Historic House Is Being Torn Down

MONTREAL (CP)—To most passersby Frobisher House is merely an old, five-story building which recently housed a shoe factory and now is being torn down. But to some it reflects the glory of an older Montreal, of a virile young city where French and English adventurers more than 150 years ago swarmed along the narrow, newly-laid streets that cut sharply back from the broad St. Lawrence River.

In 1763 Benjamin Frobisher erected the building and under its high-raftered ceiling he planned the Northwest Company, which less than 40 years later was amalgamated with the Hudson's Bay Company. Twenty years' ownership of the place is shrouded in mystery, but about 1846 a Mrs. A. T. Julien transformed it into an hotel. Renovated in 1872, it became the smart rendezvous for the gay young bloods of the day. Still the centre of attraction, it was visited two years later by a stranger of aristocratic bearing, who signed the register as "Charles Lormier."

While he went upstairs to his room, whispers began to circulate in the lobby. Did not the young stranger bear a marked resemblance to a certain Frenchman of royal blood? Before the whispers were answered, though, "Charles Lormier" was found on the floor of his room, a tiny pistol ball lodged in his forehead.

English Nuns Try Gas Masks

Several nuns were among women studying how a gas mask operates at an air-raid precaution school in London recently. The Dowager Marchioness of Reading explains how the mask keeps poison gases out of the lungs. The sad expression on their faces illustrates how repugnant it is to those who devote their lives to peace, to be compelled to face the thought of war.

Crawford-Tone Marriage To End

Joan Seeking Divorce; He to Return to Stage

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Joan Crawford, often called "Hollywood's most ambitious woman," is going to divorce her second husband, Franchot Tone, who came to the movies via Cornell University and the New York stage.

Joan says she's sorry their marriage, which lasted almost three years, had to fail, but they are parting good friends. She said she was in no hurry to obtain a divorce. She will continue to live in the big house she built in Brentwood. Tone has left, taking an apartment.

Behind this split-up, which Hollywood has been expecting for several months, lies a story of divergent aspirations. Tone intends to return to New York and the stage. His wife's ambition is to win acclaim for her voice on the operatic stage.

Although Tone is a hard worker, he is easy-going compared to the driving, tireless Joan of vaulting ambitions. Her rise from obscurity to stardom is one of Hollywood's glittering legends. She had no theatre background, very little education. She became a topnotch movie performer by sheer hard work, long hours of study, strict attention to health habits that give her inexhaustible energy.

Tone, suave, polished, with a fine social background, came to Hollywood from "Success Story," a New York stage hit. He and Joan met as players in the picture "Today We Live." Theirs was a secret marriage in Englewood Cliffs, N.J., in October, 1935. Tone has made creditable progress in pictures, but nothing like that of his wife. She recently signed a seven-year contract that will bring her $2,000,000.

Earl of Egmont to Sell Avon Castle

NEW YORK (CP)—The Earl of Egmont returned from a holiday in England aboard the Queen Mary and reiterated his determination to sell Avon Castle, his ancestral home in England.

"The countess and myself will be content with our 437-acre grain farm at Calgary," the rancher-earl told newspapermen. "It costs me more than $10,000 a year to maintain my Hampshire estate," Lord Egmont explained. "It ought to sell well, as it is only 100 miles from London."

Need Changes At Industrial School

VANCOUVER (CP)—Annie G. Westman, superintendent of the British Columbia Industrial Home for Girls here, says girls escape from the home because the institution is primarily a school, not a penal institution.

Questioned regarding the escape of two teen-age girls last week-end, the superintendent told interviewers yesterday other reasons for the breaks were that the detention rooms were "hopelessly" inadequate and that there was a small handful of incorrigible youngsters whose home training included no discipline.

"We haven't the proper equipment to stop these runaways," Mrs. Westman said.

"For the vast majority of the children such equipment is not necessary, but for a few children who have never known discipline we will have to have some place where we can put them and know they won't get out."

Troops Control Town In Iowa

NEWTON, Ia. (AP) — Iowa national guardsmen rolled into Newton today in troop trucks and armored cars and established martial law at the scene of the 10-week-old Maytag Washing machine plant strike.

At least six persons suffered serious injuries, and between 20 and 50 others were knocked down or beaten, or both, in street fights which broke out today in the vicinity of the factory. Participants were union strikers and sympathizers and back-to-work advocates.

One man was reported stabbed and a special deputy sheriff was reported badly beaten and his gun taken away.

SINCE MAY 9

The outbreak was the most serious in the labor controversy that began May 9, when union employees of the Maytag Company walked out in protest against a 10 per cent wage cut. The union is a Committee for Industrial Organization affiliate. They held the plant in a sit-down for 10 days.

The troopers finally formed a loose line from sidewalk to sidewalk and drove the crowd away from the plant.

Governor Nelson Kraschel announced in a proclamation last night that troops would take over law enforcement here and that the plant would be closed.

Halting of three trucks carrying washing machine parts at the outskirts of Newton yesterday precipitated Mayor George Campbell's request for troops.

ASK $50,000 TO CUT DEBT

Transfer of $50,000 of this year's budget surplus towards debt reduction and purchase of 6 per cent city bonds with the remaining $59,000 will be sought by the Board of Debt Retirement Fund Trustees from the City Council.

At a meeting yesterday, the first since Herbert W. Davey succeeded Frank Higgins, K.C., as a member of the board, the trustees took this first step in their duties as supervisors of the city's debt reductions plan under the Fortin scheme.

Included in this year's estimates was $109,000, which was understood to be for debt retirement. This included a surplus from last year and amounts reduced from various appropriations.

Revenue Is Up In Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP) — Civic tax collections this year passed the $2,000,000 mark Monday, and City Treasurer James L. Armstrong forecast the receipt of an additional $7,000,000 before the 6 per cent rebate period expires August 3.

Better business conditions are held chiefly responsible for the improvement over last year's collections, which on the same day totaled only $1,619,169.

NEW COMMANDER

Keen Race For Playoff Berths

Sports Mirror

GIVE US FIVE more years, and if we haven't produced something good enough to win in major Northwest play I doubt if the city ever will," says Reg Corfield, leading spirit in Victoria's campaign to develop junior tennis stars.

Reg, with many other tennis-minded, sees Victoria's failure to challenge California and even Washington opposition in major tournament play here as a direct result of the neglect of junior players.

Under the new coaching system, the youngsters are at least learning how to hold their racquets, and are being taught the different shots.

"If we only develop three out of 100 in the course of the next few years we will have a group of very fair performers," Corfield says.

He expects the local juniors to remain in a state of comparative eclipse as far as provincial and Northwest tournaments are concerned until Russ Hawes and Jim Skelton, smart Vancouver boys, have outgrown the junior division.

Corfield thinks the junior situation could be materially improved if smaller clubs paid more attention to younger talent.

But whether or not Victoria players reach the select brackets in the men's play in the P.N.W. sectionals and B.C. championship from August 1 to 6, those who like the game should see some smart tennis on the Fort Street courts during that week.

While definite entries are not yet known, the touring Californians now being held around Seattle's courts are expected to include Edwin Amark, San Francisco; Dick Bennett, the transplanted poker-face from California now registered at Tacoma; Seattle's lanky Mel Dranga and his fellow townsman, Hank Prusoff, can play good enough tennis to entertain any but the most fastidious.

Incidentally, Dranga is favored to repeat his sectional triumph in the men's singles. Elwood Cooke, former Portland P.N.W. champion, is in the east.

From R. N. Watt, president of the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association, comes word Mexico is willing to play a second round match in Davis Cup competition in Montreal if that country gets past the first round.

Australia plays Mexico in the first round, while Canada meets Japan in the other bracket. Australia should have little difficulty with the team from below the Rio Grande, and Fred Perry—without seeing the Canucks in action—quoted them a 50-50 bet against the Japanese.

The N.P.A.A.O. (that means North Pacific Association of Amateur Oarsmen) regatta is scheduled to open in Vancouver on Friday. At one time one of the great sport classics of the Northwest's summer, the meet this year will almost certainly develop into a Victoria-Vancouver duel. Victoria is going over mainly to keep the event alive.

There was a time when the cream of Portland, Vancouver, Victoria, Kelowna and other rowing centres of the Northwest sent entries, with the senior fours as the outstanding feature.

But Portland, Kelowna and Brentwood, an occasional entry, show little enthusiasm for rowing over Coal Harbor. The local boys are concerned about their boats. The water is almost invariably uncertain. Drift and cruising craft make the course dangerous. The N.P.A.A.O. is not popular when held in the Terminal City.

Come next year it will be staged here according to present reports. And the J.B.A.A. (Turn to Page 10, Col. 6)

Burns, Longshoremen and MacDonalds in Bitter Fight For A Section Finals

Keen softball duels are the order these nights, especially in the A section race where three outfits are battling tooth and nail for cherished playoff positions. At the present time Burns and Longshoremen are juggling second and third berths around and MacDonalds, just a stone's throw away, are pressing with all the power they can muster to secure a position in the finals.

At Athletic Park yesterday evening, the Longshoremen posted a valuable 13 to 2 victory over the leading Cameron nine. The millhands played ragged ball all night. They booted badly and did not look like the same club that had clinched the top playoff berth with a splendid record of 16 wins and 3 losses. The best they could do at bat was collect three knocks from the southpaw slayers of Ralph Bonner, Steve Jones' ace mound performer.

MACDONALDS WIN
One of the keenest battles in this section last night was staged at Victoria West Park, where MacDonalds, fighting hard with only a mathematical chance of snaring a finals berth, punched out a close, 7 to 6 verdict over Burns. To stay in the running the Macs have to defeat Longshoremen tonight at Sidney. If the Longshoremen win it will mean finish to the race for playoff positions. If they lose the interesting fight will continue.

Hollywood Club and Saanich, the two teams who are out of the running, met at Hampton Road, with the clubmen winning, 6 to 5.

MacDonalds 131100100-7
Burns 000010050-6
Batteries: Byers and Lines; Jones and Caddell.
Young Citizens League secured the top playoff berth in D section with a 15 to 11 victory over Victoria Brass and Iron Works at Bullen Park. In a women's fixture, Jack Taylor's Cardinals defeated Bert Waudie's girls, 20 to 9. Colwood and Young Liberals will open their playoffs in B section tonight at Central Park. Two evenly-matched squads, they should provide an interesting game. It will start at 6:15.

The Adverts vs. Hollywood Club women's game will be played at Queens and Quadra instead of Victoria West Park.

Victorians Will See Title Fight
Well over a score of Victoria fight followers will journey to Seattle for the world's middleweight championship battle between Freddie Steel and challenger Al Hostak on Tuesday, a check-up of fans disclosed today. Those wishing to enjoy a special rate on the boat going over and coming back are advised to leave their names at Belcher's News Stand, Yates Street, by Monday.

WINS PAR CONTEST
Finishing four up, Mrs. Hew Paterson took A class honors in the weekly par competition played yesterday at the Victoria Golf Club. Miss C. Macdonald topped the B section, 3-up.

York Boxers to Show In Fleet Tournament
Good Entry List For Big Event Here August 3

Fighting men from H.M.S. York will trade punches with the pick of the local contingent of the Royal Canadian Navy in the first Pacific Fleet boxing tournament in the city's recent history at Athletic Park on the evening of August 3.

Eight experienced fighters and nine novices from the visiting British ships will seek championships in the seven regular classes from bantamweights to heavies and in bouts for comparative new.

"Bucko" McDonald Leading Orillia Red Wings Hockey Star Setting Pace For Terriers in Ontario Boxla Play

TORONTO (CP)—As Orillia's mighty lacrosse Terriers go about the business of winning another crack at the national championship they lost last year, "Bashing Bucko" McDonald bids fair to become eastern Canada's lacrosse "man of the year."

The burly Bucko, colorful hockey defence star with Detroit Red Wings of the National League, has his Terriers tied with St. Catharines Athletics for first place in the senior Ontario Lacrosse Association field. And as a good coach should, Bucko is leading the way to winning games.

Rapping in goals at an average of three a game, the Terrier playing-coach is close to the top in the O.L.A. scoring lists with 33 points. Bucko is getting his points the hard way, having fired 40 goals in 14 games.

Morton of St. Catharines and Billisaacs of Hamilton are the only two players ahead of the Orillia ace in the race for scoring honors.

As hard a charger on the lacrosse floor as he is on the ice, Bucko nevertheless has drawn only four minutes in penalties. He has scored 15 goals more than any other Terrier and has counted 13 assists.

Bucko's success isn't so hard to understand when it is remembered he was a lacrosse star long before he made the big-league hockey circuit. But his success is notable just the same, for Bucko had been away from lacrosse for several seasons until his recent reinstatement.

TWO LACROSSE TILTS TONIGHT

Two-box lacrosse games are scheduled for this evening. At the Athletic Park Conservatives and Navy squads will tangle, while Victoria Indians and Cox's Bakery will meet in the Victoria West box. Both are second-division encounters.

Syracuse stickhandlers last night posted a 10 to 8 victory over Oaklandians Juniors at Hampton Road after an interesting engagement. The teams traveled through the first two sessions on even terms, but the eventual winners drew ahead in the final two sessions to finish with a two-goal margin.

Popham refereed. Teams and scorers follow: Syracuse—Thomas, Tonkins 1, B. Simpson, Don Simpson 5, Travis 4, Atherton, Knowles, Parrott, Hodgson 1, Hawkins and Scott. Total 10.

Oaklands—Taylor, Merriman, Lea 1, G. Lott, J. Lott, Jones, McCaghey 4, Braithwaite, Popham 1, Beecher, Holmes 1, Penketh, Saunders and Robertson. Total 8.

Detroit Plans Olympic Quest
DETROIT (AP)—Combined forces of sportsmen, civic promotional groups and business interest got behind a move today to push Detroit in on the ground floor among bidders for the Olympic Games in 1944 or 1948. Leaders of an "Olympics-for-Detroit" group plan to raise $2,500,000 to finance the venture.

Esquimalt Net Fixtures Close
In last night's play of the annual Esquimalt tennis tournament at the Hillcrest Tennis Club G. Gray eliminated G. Gunnis in a men's singles fixture by a three-set score of 6-2, 2-6, 6-0.

Other playoff games showed stiff competition as well. Results follow:

Seeded Players Win In Seattle

SEATTLE (AP)—After two days of separating the wheat from the chaff, the Washington State tennis tournament went into its third day today with most of the favorites still in the running.

Only eight players had advanced to the round of 16 in the men's singles because of the huge starting field of 73. With one exception the women's singles had advanced to the quarter finals.

The junior singles field of 57 had simmered down to the round of 16 with one exception, while most of the girls' singles opening round remained to be played.

Those already in the round of 16 in the men's singles were Mel Dranga, Charles Hunt, Henry Prusoff and Colin Clegg of Seattle; Bob Carrothers, Coronado, Calif.; George Hoyt, Seattle; Ed Amark, San Francisco, winner of last week's Pacific Northwest Tourney in Tacoma, and Darrell Kelly, Portland.

May Sutton Doeg of Santa Monica, Calif., seeded No. 2 in the women's singles, dropped out of competition by defaulting to Pat Turnbull of Seattle.

Finals were being played today in the sectional girls' singles between Kay Staples, Duncan, B.C., and Dody La Gasa, Tacoma. Miss Staples won yesterday from Judy Fraser, Tacoma, 6-3, 6-2, and Miss La Gasa defeated Le Velle Kelly, Portland, 6-1, 6-3.

In the junior sectional singles, Russ Hawes, Vancouver, B.C., advanced to the finals by defeating Stan Smith, Seattle, 6-3, 4-6, 6-2.

PENNANT FEVER BUCKS UP BUCS Pirates Inspired With Hopes Of Winning Flag Showing New Life

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Skipper Pie Traynor believes "infection of fever—pennant fever"—changed his recently listless crew of Pirates on the Pittsburgh brig into the present hustling, ferocious gang of Buccaneers.

"It broke out about the middle of our recent 13-game winning streak," explained the always courteous manager. "You know for three or four years we've had a good team, although not quite as good as this one."

"But somehow we never could get infected with the fever. Well, during our streak we began pulling game after game out of the fire. Suddenly the boys began to believe they could win the pennant."

Traynor recalled the incident of the wild pitch Freddy Fitzsimmons of the Brooklyn Dodgers made last week, letting in two Pirate runs in the ninth to tie the score. The Pirates won in extra innings.

Johnny Rizzo is a big part of the answer to the rejuvenated Pirates, who now are riding at the top of the National League by 1/2 game. He has driven in 55 runs and jumped up his batting average during the past month from .254 to .318.

During the month's spurt Paul Waner, former National League batting champion, increased his batting average from .170 to .270; Gus Suhr, veteran first sacker leaped from .250 to .320, and Arky Vaughan, playing the greatest defensive game of his career at short, has boosted his from .270 to .310.

Tacoma Wallops Vancouver Team

Tommy Evert clouted a homer with the bases full and Dave Goodman hit a homer with two aboard to give the Tacoma Tigers seven runs in a big fourth inning in their game with the Vancouver Maple Leafs in Tacoma last night.

The Tigers won the Western International League contest 10 to 1.

The victory squared the series at one game each and put the Tigers in undisputed possession of second place as the Wenatchee Chiefs lost to the Yakima Pippins 6 to 3 in Yakima.

This was the second straight win of the series for the league leading Pippins. The Pippins pounded out 13 hits off Pintar and Dibasi.

The Bellingham Chinokees made it two in a row over the Spokane Hawks in Bellingham, winning 7 to 5. George Mandish's home run with two on in the first inning provided the margin of victory for the winners.

Victoria Golfer Rated Challenger to Sandy Somerville in Classic

TORONTO (CP)—Those faint snatches you hear of the 1938 pre-tournament theme song carry familiar lyrics—"Sandy Somerville to beat." And there is every indication there will be few in the full chorus when Canada's annual golf show for the amateur stars opens at London next week.

What lends more to unanimity of the chorus this year is the fact C. Ross Somerville, gunning for his seventh Dominion title, will be playing over his home course at the Hunt Club.

If you can discount those six crowns and familiarity with every foot of the fairways and greens, you still have to consider Sandy's play this year. He went to the semi-finals in the British Amateur, and on his return finished in front at Fort Erie and Buffalo tournaments. He followed this with a fling at the Ontario open, finishing three strokes behind the leading amateur, Jim Boeckh of Toronto.

Starting the grind next Tuesday, Somerville will be defending the title he won at Ottawa last year. He failed at Winnipeg in

NORTH SHORE WILL GO EAST

NORTH VANCOUVER (CP)—North Shore United, British Columbia's representative in the Dominion soccer play-downs, decided at a special meeting last night to travel to Winnipeg to continue play in the national series.

John Richardson, secretary of the British Columbia soccer commission, told the meeting he had been informed by Sam Davidson of Winnipeg, secretary of the Dominion Football Association, that both Western Canada final and the Dominion final will be played at Winnipeg.

Indians Gain Power Victory

VANCOUVER (CP)—Maybe those last-place North Shore Indians will go someplace in the Inter-city Box Lacrosse League this season after all, despite all the trouble they've brought on their collective heads.

Newly reinstated by the lacrosse commission after being suspended for failing to complete a game with Vancouver Burrards last week, Indians turned on their old power last night for a 18 to 13 victory—their first in seven starts.

The game was as rough and tough as any this season but Indians weathered it, and without a protest. At one stage the game was held up five minutes while the floor was swept clean of debris thrown by the crowd of 5,500. The crowd thought a penalty given a Burrard player after Harry Newman of Indians had been injured, was given to the wrong man.

The Braves held a 12 to 6 lead at the half and matched Burrards goal for goal in the final sessions to hold the edge.

Beef Smith led the Indian attack with five goals and an assist, and Pat Theal was the best Burrard sharpshooter with four goals and an assist.

S. Burr vs. W. Carpenter

Preliminary and first rounds must be played by July 30. The second round by August 18, and the third round by August 25. All games will be played on Lake Hill greens and will consist of 21 ends.

at Athletic Park in a fight for the leadership in the Rithet Cup series. The game will start at 6:15. Boss Roy Barnes of the gashouse gang has high hopes of turning back the undefeated clubmen tonight and will field his strongest nine. Lonnie Murray will start on the hill for the Pfizer and Nex aggregation, while Sonny Walker or Ray Maitland will be the selection in the Victoria camp.

In the array of provincial champions entered are Pete Kelly of Charlottetown, the hockey-playing golfer who holds the joint New Brunswick-Prince Edward Island title; Frank Corrigan, new Quebec champion; Dr. George Bigelow, Saskatchewan titleholder; Bobby Procter, who rules the amateurs in Alberta, and Jimmy Boeckh, Ontario champion.

The outcome of the American League pennant race apparently hinges upon the doings of the uncertain Cleveland Indians. And if you want to know what's what in the National, the thing to do now is consult the unpredictable Brooklyn Dodgers.

The Indians, league leaders up to last week, reinstated themselves as the team to beat in the American League yesterday when they whipped New York Yankees, 5 to 3, in the opener of a highly important four-game series.

That victory, gained with a spirited attack upon the veteran Yankee flinger, Bump Hadley, and the six-hit hurling of their own Mel Harder, put Cleveland only a half game behind the Yankees. They could regain the lead today by winning both games of a doubleheader.

The Dodgers, who knocked New York Giants out of the National League lead before starting west and have taken over Pittsburgh and Cincinnati since then, temporarily disposed of Chicago's threat yesterday by downing the Cubs, 8 to 3.

Since Pittsburgh's pace-setting Pirates whaled the Philadelphia Phillies 8 to 0 behind Ed Brandt's five-hit flinging and the Giants staged a ninth-inning rally to beat out St. Louis Cardinals, 7 to 6, they moved farther out of danger. Then Cincinnati Reds came through with a double victory, 3 to 1 and 7 to 2, over Boston Bees, and moved back into third place one point ahead of the Cubs.

Sham Battle Rages Over Saanich Peninsula

The whole of the north end of the Saanich Peninsula will be a battleground until Friday evening.

Today 350 men of the First Battalion Canadian Scottish Regiment and the Rocky Mountain Rangers are moving northward in an attack against a defending force more than 600 strong made up of three Vancouver units, the Seaforth Highlanders of Canada, the Irish Fusiliers (Vancouver Regiment) and the British Columbia Regiment.

The battle will continue along the same general lines tomorrow and Friday.

Yesterday the militia units were out rehearsing their positions and movements for the manoeuvres, which are among the largest ever held on lower Vancouver Island.

The war area spreads from Sidney to Patricia Bay and from Saanichton to the end of the peninsula. Not much of the action can be seen from the highways. Most of the troops are making the fullest use of the many clumps of trees and snake fences in the area and keeping well under cover.

The sham battle is being fought in conjunction with the annual militia camp held all this week at Sidney.

The camp started on Sunday, when the navy brought the Vancouver units over from the mainland and the First Battalion of the Canadian Scottish went out from Victoria by bus. The Rocky Mountain Rangers arrived ahead of the rest of the troops, last Wednesday.

The various auxiliary units which work with an infantry brigade are also under canvas with the battalions: Royal Canadian Army Service Corps, Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps and Royal Canadian Corps of Signals.

NO MOSQUITOES

Yesterday members of the rank and file of the camp personnel said things were generally better than last year. There is plenty of heat, but not so much as last July. There is still plenty of dust, but this year the mosquitoes, which last year pervaded everything, have vanished. There are earwigs, however, and lots of spiders.

The camp stretches for a quarter mile down the road leading into Sidney, with the tennis courts forming an island in the middle of it.

The headquarters lines are at the east end, then, moving westward, come the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, permanent force troops there as instructors; the Army Service Corps and Medical Corps; the Seaforth Highlanders; the Irish Fusiliers and the B.C. Regiment, and the Canadian Scottish and the R.M.R.'s at the west end.

The bugles sound Reveille each morning at 6. From 8 until 3 in the afternoon there is work to be done.

In the afternoon the various units play each other at softball or volleyball, or else the men watch the Sidney girls playing on the tennis courts. In the evening one or other of the units puts on an entertainment.

The climax of the camp will be on Saturday, when the massed units will be inspected by Brigadier J. C. Stewart, officer commanding Military District No. 11, and will march past Lieutenant Governor Eric W. Hamber.

PIPE-MAJOR CASUALTY

Incidental information gleaned about the camp:

The only casualty to date is Pipe-Major Sandy Williams, suffering abrasions and bruises from being run into by a car as he led the pipe band of the Canadian Scottish out of the camp gates onto the highway.

The Army Service Corps should get a vote of thanks from the Victoria and Island Publicity

Bureau. They call the stuff in the tanks of their trucks "petrol." The Irish Fusiliers (Vancouver Regiment) are very proud of the fact they are the only militia unit in Canada to have Stokes mortars among their equipment.

The Seaforth Highlanders retain their old habit of leaving off their kilts and wearing only their khaki kilt covers around camp. As a result a party of Seaforths marching, viewed from the left, looks something like a burlesque chorus with expanses of bare thigh showing through the slit where the kilt cover is tied. The Canadian Scottish is tied. The Canadian Scottish, who wear aprons instead of all-around covers, look on jealously.

J. B. White, the Canadian Scottish regimental cook, took part in the relief of Ladysmith in the Boer War.

The battalion sergeant-major of the Seaforths was seen drinking Coca-Cola, disproving the old song about "Whusky-supp'n' Hieland Men."

of shaking off their recent slump yesterday. While Harder pitched shutout ball most of the time, but relaxed long enough to let George Selkirk and Bill Dickey belt homers, the Clevelanders made five of their nine blows count. Earl Averill's circuit drive started it. Three singles, plus a pass, a sacrifice and an infield out netted three runs in the fourth and sewed up the game.

Brooklyn marked up its seventh victory in the eight games against first-division opposition by smacking Chicago pitching for a dozen timely blows, including Cookie Lavagetto's homer with two on. Vito Tamulis held the Cubs to eight hits.

The Pirates found the Phils easy as Johnny Rizzo made four hits and as many runs and Arky

The story of the militia camp at Sidney and of the great sham battle which all militia infantry units of British Columbia are fighting in the area bounded by Patricia Bay, Swartz Bay, Sidney and Saanichton, is graphically told in these pictures, taken yesterday by Peter Inglis.

Top row, left to right: The Seaforth Highlanders of Canada, Vancouver, swing down the East Saanich Road near Saanichton with the pipes at their head. While the troops are out fighting there is work to be done in camp, and a Canadian-Scottish fatigue party peels potatoes for the evening stew. Two Seaforth officers spy out the enemy advance from a post well hidden in the trees.

Second row: An officer and men in a post established behind a snake fence "somewhere in North Saanich" use ferns as camouflage to break up the light patches made by their khaki topees. After the battle two men of the Irish Fusiliers (Vancouver Regiment) refresh themselves at the washing trough in camp; signallers receiving instruction on the dusty parade ground.

Third row: Men of the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps double to their posts alongside their trucks as the unit prepares for convoy drill. A soldier cools himself during a lull in the battle with Coca-Cola at a Saanichton refreshment stand. Another fatigue party contributes to the stew by putting carrots through a mincer.

Vaughan drove in three. The Giants, however, used up five pitchers and won mostly because Hank Leiber hit a homer in the eighth and singled in two tallies in the ninth. Whitey Moore's two-hit pitching in his first start of the year and homers by Berger Lombardi and Craft, good for six runs in the second game, boosted Cincinnati's hopes considerably.

Washington, winning out 4 to 3, on Rick Ferrell's 10th inning double, dropped Detroit to six in the American League behind Chicago. The White Sox-Boston and St. Louis-Philadelphia games were rained out.

COAST LEAGUE

Three runs scored by the San Francisco Seals on a lone hit was one of two reasons today the Los Angeles Angels increased their Pacific Coast Baseball League leadership to three games.

The three runs scored in the seventh inning enabled the Seals to defeat the second-place Sacramento Solons, 3 to 2. The second reason the Angels had their increased lead was five runs scored on five hits in the seventh inning of their game with the Portland

Legation Changes Are Postponed

OTTAWA (CP)—All questions of foreign representation both in Europe and Asia will be taken up at the same time, but not until later in the summer, Prime Minister King said yesterday when questioned on forthcoming appointment of a minister to Holland and Belgium.

It was assumed the Prime Minister was referring to the legation in Japan as well as the forthcoming establishment of legations in Brussels and The Hague, and the pending retirement of Hon. Philippe Roy, Canadian minister to France.

No major appointments would be made during the summer months, the Prime Minister said. There are several administration posts vacant and six Senate vacancies.

The Prime Minister had no announcements following today's regular weekly meeting of the cabinet, other than that an order had been passed authorizing proclamation July 26 of part one of the new national housing legislation.

C.C.F. in National Convention July 26

OTTAWA (CP)—Members of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation of Canada will hold their fifth annual national convention in Edmonton July 26-29, David Lewis, national secretary, announced today.

During the same period the national convention of C.C.F. youth will be held in Edmonton and the provincial convention for Alberta.

Mr. Lewis left today to attend the meetings.

J. S. Woodsworth, M.P. for Winnipeg North Centre and the party's national president and parliamentary leader, will play a prominent part in the proceedings, as will M. J. Coldwell, federal member for Rosetown-Biggar, Sask., and national chairman.

Scotland May Buy More B.C. Lumber

LONDON (CP)—Scotland needs 250,000 new homes, the Scottish housing advisory committee stated yesterday in its report on the rehousing of aged persons. The report stated more than 40 per cent of all houses in Scotland still have only one or two rooms.

The report was regarded in Canadian circles as lending further hope to British Columbia agents in Great Britain who are seeking to sell timber for house construction. They already have sold a considerable quantity.

More Applicants Than Farm Jobs

CALGARY (CP)—Present indications are that about 6,500 men will be placed from Calgary in the harvest fields this year, according to officials of the provincial employment service bureau.

At present there are more applicants for farm jobs than there are jobs available, with placements at the rate of about 10 to 20 daily.

A few men are drifting into Alberta seeking harvest work, officials say, but the influx has not reached large proportions.

Wage rates remain unchanged from a year ago, ranging from $20 to $25 a month and "all found."

Chief Justice Archer Martin, in delivering judgment, said the appel raised an important question respecting proper direction of the jury. The appeal court found there had been misdirection but dismissed the appeal on the ground that if the jury had been properly directed it must have reached a conclusion that the appellant was guilty.

PAWNBROKERS BEFORE COURT

K. A. McLeod Admits Demanding Improper Sum For Loan on Diamond Ring

Hearing of a charge against William J. Bellew of demanding a sum for a loan other than specified in the Pawnbrokers'
Act was opened in the City Police Court this morning.

Bellew was charged jointly with Kenneth A. McLeod, his former partner in the business of the Pacific Jewelry and Loan Company, Broad Street. McLeod pleaded guilty and Bellew not guilty on the grounds he was not associated with the business.

Gilbert T. McKay, Royal Oak, testified he had been told by Mc-Leod he could get a $25 loan on a diamond ring which he took to the shop. On applying for the loan he said he received only $22.50. He deposited the ring on August 20, 1937, and made a series of payments up to May when he had asked McLeod how much it would cost him to redeem it. McKay testified he had paid $17.50 in payments and Mc-Leod told him it would cost $35 to redeem the ring before July 1.
McKay said he had never at any time had anything to do with Bellew's transaction.

Bellew's defence was that the partnership had been dissolved on April 1, although the dissolution agreement had not been filed in the County Court until May 19. He said he and McLeod agreed to dissolve on April 1 but the intervening time had been taken up with the preparation of the dissolution agreement.

McLeod told the court he would take full responsibility in the case and make adjustments to McKay. The court said the amount of adjustment made would have an effect on the amount of the penalty.

Projectionists Will Pay $2 a
Year and Adhere to Other Regulations

Projectionists in motion picture theatres in British Columbia

tions, candidates must satisfy the government they have freedom from epilepsy, and that their sight and hearing is good. Certificates from a medical doctor

Provision was made in the amendment for temporary permits, so that theatres may operate with less than their usual number of projectionists for short periods only providing one fully-qualified projectionist remains on duty with two projection machines.

charged to candidates sitting for

Carpenters In Vancouver Quit

VANCOUVER (CP)—Fifty
carpenters, members of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America,
Local No. 452, engaged in construction of the British Columbia government traffic building and a theatre, struck today for wage rates.

The dispute involves the 90c an hour minimum demanded by the carpenters and the 80c an hour figure offered by the Carter Halls Aldinger Company and the Dominion Construction Company,
the two firms involved.

"It is an attempt on the part of the General Contracting Association of Vancouver to break down our wage scale," W. Page, business manager of the brotherhood and secretary of the Building Trades Council international charged.

The strikers did not picket the buildings.

The strike affected about 75 laborers and members of other trades who were unable to proceed without the carpenters.

TWEEDSMUIR AT UNIVERSITY

EDINBURGH (CP)—A warning against the "service-station" conception of a university which sends a man into a profession without teaching him to think was given today by Baron
Tweedsmuir, Governor-General of Canada, following his installation as Chancellor of Edinburgh University.

The installation coincided with the graduation exercises of the faculty of medicine and the granting of honorary doctor-of-laws
degrees to several notable Empire figures including the Marquess of Linlithgow, Viceroy of India,
at present on leave.

Lord Tweedsmuir, who succeeds the late Sir James Binnie
as chancellor of the university, assumed the black and gold robe of his new office and headed the procession to the dais of the scarlet-robed men receiving honorary degrees. Students whistled shrilly and Lady Tweedsmuir watched, smiling, as the procession moved to the front of the hall.

TRUE FOUNDATION

Lord Tweedsmuir, who said he blushed to confess that he had not gone through a university to a degree himself, told his audience that "all true education requires a humane foundation."

"By humanism I mean the study of man in all his relations as a thinker, an artist, a social and moral being; and by technique I mean the study of what might be called brute fact."
"The present generation has a physical audacity which would have left us (his own undergraduate generation) gasping.
And I think they like intellectual boldness," he said.

Others beside the Marquess of Linlithgow who received honorary degrees were: W. S. Morris-son, minister of agriculture; Sir John Anderson, Conservative member of parliament for the Scottish Universities; Rt. Hon.
Walter Elliott, Secretary of State
for Scotland; Eric Gill, sculptor, and Lord Eustace Percy, rector of the Newcastle division of Durham University.

Thirst Death On California Desert
DEATH VALLEY, Calif. (AP)
—The body of Herman E. Van Thijn, 38, Los Angeles mining engineer, was found yesterday on the hot sands of the Mojave
Desert. He had died of thirst.

Van Thijn and his companion,
Robert L. Wicks of Los Angeles, left their homes Sunday night for Owl Hole Springs, near Shoshone, to inspect mining properties. At Barstow they took a little-used road to Shoshone.
Deep in the desert, their automobile stalled.

They started out afoot in search of water. Late Monday
Van Thijn collapsed.
Wicks reached Cave Springs, near Death Valley. Yesterday
the group found the body of the engineer, face down, about 300 yards away from the greasewood patch where Wicks had left him.

Alberta Man Held

After Wide Hunt

VEGREVILLE, Alta. (CP).—Arrested after a five-day hunt, Harry Shire, 33, faced a double murder charge today while his wife and two others were in a hospital suffering from effects of a severe beating.

Police and posses who had sought Shire since last Friday when his seven-months-old son, Raymond, was found dead in his home and four others badly beaten ended their search last night with Shire being taken into custody at Killam.

Florence Wasalasko, seven, died in the Vegreville hospital Monday from blows on the head and body. Mrs. Shire, 29, is still in a critical condition in the hospital here. James Wasalasko, 10, and Peter Antonik, 18, brother of Mrs. Shire, are recovering from injuries.

The murder charges against Shire, farmer of the Two Hills district, resulted from the death of his son and his niece, who along with her brother, James, were visiting at the Shire farm.

Saskatchewan Crop

Losses Are Reported

REGINA (CP).—Grasshoppers and insufficient moisture brought about a six-point decline in the condition of the Saskatchewan wheat crop during the week-end, July 15, according to reports from 531 points to Saskatchewan Pool Elevators Limited.

The weighted condition figure fell from 112 to 106. (The base 100 means a condition which if continued would give a yield equal to the long-term provincial average, 16.5 bushels per acre.)

TOWN FOR MOVIES

HOLLYWOOD, Cal. (AP).—The once booming mining town of Tombstone, Ariz., is willing to sell itself, lock, stock and barrel, to the movie industry for $75,000. Producer Harry Sherman, who has been on location there, referred the offer to Paramount Studios. He said Walter H. Cole, editor of Tombstone's famous newspaper, the Epitaph, had canvassed the town and found the 500 residents willing to sell.

Letters to the Editor

WHAT IS WRONG?

To the Editor:—A Vancouver journalist asks for a concise definition of democracy. Here is one: A state of society in which all citizens have equal rights, equal opportunities and an equal voice in public affairs.

This looks like a rather small order, but has any part of the world ever experienced such a condition? Still, I believe it to be attainable with a little enlightenment and the will to bring it about.

It is quite noticeable that while Anglo-Saxon society has achieved many liberties and traveled far from despotism, it has still some distance to go before reaching the goal of pure democracy. It is unthinkable that in a pure democracy there would still be dogs-in-the-manger in possession of natural resources (the Creator's bounties to all the race), neither using nor allowing others to use them.

With natural resources open and free to labor, there need be no unemployment and no hunger marching. There would be "work and wages" for all, abundance for all, and leisure for all.

Had we an equal voice in public affairs—Initiative, referendum and recall—our so-called statesmen would jump to do our bidding and we could abolish all trafficking in the bounties of Providence. Democracy means liberty, and the possibility of practicing the Golden Rule.

ALEXANDER HAMILTON, Pender Island, B.C.

LAND, NOT CANADA

To the Editor:—I write about Dominion Day, our national birthday. Yet somehow after reading your editorial I don't feel enthusiastic and after thinking it over it occurs to me that I've never seen anyone get that way on July 1. Americans seem to get in high spirits over the 4th but, although I thank God I live in Canada, Dominion Day annually passes with its picnics but without the thrill of national pride which I think I should feel. Why?

Sometimes when I see the flag of my native land unfolding in the breeze, my heart seems to well up full of mingled pride and joy, but that is from love of England. It does not seem to give me the thought of Canada.

My pride in our ancient heritage is English pride. Our freedom of religion, speech, press, assembly and petition came from England. We Canadians never fought "through bloody seas" for those rights. For this reason I suppose they are lightly esteemed.

We seem to lack that national consciousness other nations have developed. One seldom, if ever, consciously thinks with pride of his Canadian citizenship. We lack a national flag. Our ideals are not native. We hear "The Stars and Stripes Forever" more often than O Canada.

We listen to American radio programs—which at least do have the English language in their favor, anyway. We read news reflecting the tempo of the southern nation. Our sport pages feature American sport. Our movies are 99 per cent American. No wonder many children think Washington is our capital.

Then again your editorial reminds me that we have two races, two languages, two religions, each having fires burning or smoldering in their hearts and little love lost in any case between them. We have the world's greatest foreign power, whose king is infinitely more autocratic than Hitler in complete control of our greatest province. This power is felt even 4,000 miles west and is far out of proportion to its numbers. Its program of dynamic action during the last few years is but a prelude to the future.

If the padlock law is not disallowed, our liberties—all of them—will shortly be but memories. Alberta's (quickly annulled) act to muzzle the press is trivial in comparison. Yet only a smattering of comment is heard.

O Canada! I tremble for thy future. When a lecturer is prosecuted in our courts for reading from history; when a churchman denounces our liberties before 4,000 youths and—as far as I have learned—without a single protest in our papers, I wonder just what are we headed for.

Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty, but maybe we like certain European peoples have forgotten freedom's value. There is little hope of freedom for Europe in the future but we can still refuse to be slaves—if we will.

OUR RAILWAY TROUBLE

To the Editor:—I would suggest that one reason for the railway problem in Canada is that Canadian National Railways, as a system, has too much of the private ownership attached to it. National in name, it is not national enough in policy. It is trying to balance private ownership with national financial responsibility, so the scales always drop heavily against the government.

If the government are in earnest enough and have the courage to face an outcry of many interested beneficiaries of the present bogey, let the Canadian National Railway run its own railway banking corporation for the issue of credit and currency to pay all its operating expenses, as a chartered railway national bank, with all the assets of the C.N.R. system as security for issues.

It should run its own accident insurance, fire and life insurance, old age pension insurance, and pay all wages in its own currency. Then in a few years it could not only buy out all its shareholders, but would be in a position to offer a fair price for the C.P.R.

Mr. Hungerford's proposal for compulsory arbitration for all overlapping lines, seems like the most feasible and reasonable, to protect the interests of both railways alike, together with defending the wealth of the nation, and the tax revenues of the government, from exploitation.

But as this is a national question, whether the two railway systems should "scramble" themselves inseparably, into a national responsibility, I think should not be decided by the government, but by the people, in a referendum at the polls.

SCANDINAVIAN NATIONS

To the Editor:—In spite of the difficulty in many countries at the present time, I am glad that those four little nations—Norway, Sweden, Denmark and Finland—are showing a friendly relationship in regard to Great Britain and the United States. I am appreciative that those four little nations of the north joined with Great Britain on sanctions and noninterference.

"College Swing," the new Paramount comedy of high jinx, which is showing today at the Atlas Theatre, hit's the season's high for the number of popular songs written especially for it. The chief of the eight are "I Fall in Love With You Every Day" and "You're a Natural," by Frank Loesser and Manning Sherwin, and "Moments Like This" and "How'dja Like to Love Me," by Loesser and Burton Lane.

Burns and Allen, Martha Raye and Bob Hope head "College Swing's" all-star cast, which includes Edward Everett Horton, Ben Blue, Florence George and Betty Grable.

Hawaiian Follies

Attractive Show

The Capitol Theatre went Hawaii yesterday when Bell's Hawaiian Follies opened there with a South Seas cast, including steel guitarists and hula girls.

Against a convincing backdrop six islands musicians with guitars, banjos, and a bass-viol played sans bow, provided accompaniment for the hula girls with their grass skirts.

After an opening medley of Hawaiian music the boys play "Drowsy Waltz" and follow up with "Trees." This song lends itself very well to the island instrumentation and John Kahookona, otherwise plucker of the bass-viol, sings it well in a pleasant baritone.

Two of the olive-skinned dancers, Maizie and Elaine, offer a modern interlude with the snappy "Samoa."

After this they give the ceremonial hula.

Baby Joy, a little Hawaiian tyke about nine years old, gives some fast dancing in the modern style and proves to be the most popular part of the act.

Herbert Marshall and Virginia Bruce appear in the picture "Woman Against Woman."

COLUMBIA THEATRE

Fredric March plays the role of Jean Lafitte, 19th-century pirate, in Cecil B. DeMille's "The Buccaneer," now at the Columbia Theatre. With the broad background of the War of 1812 to make the picture a great historical epic, March changes from an outlaw to the man who helps win the Battle of New Orleans and then, by a trick of fate, to become an exile. Franciska Gaal, Hungarian star, plays opposite him, and in the supporting cast are Margot Grahame, Akim Tamiroff, Walter Brennan and Ian Keith.

The Story of Rubber III—WICKHAM AND THE SEEDS

Today we shall have a hero story of a sort. The hero, Henry Wickham, performed his great work 62 years ago.

At that time Brazil was the "lord and master" of the rubber industry. There were rubber trees in other parts of the tropics, but not such good ones as the Hevea trees of Brazil.

There were rules against shipping seeds out of the country, so it seemed that the rest of the world might never have Hevea trees.

That is how it seemed, but Wickham—a British citizen—thought out a plan. He had spent some time trying to start a rubber plantation in Brazil, but without much success. Now he wanted to obtain seeds to send to Great Britain, from where it would be possible to pass them on to a tropical part of the British Empire.

Going into the Amazon region, he located many wild rubber trees, and chose the best ones from which to take seeds. Thousands of seeds were gathered and dried. Then they were placed aboard a small British steamer which had come up the Amazon. The seeds were hidden between layers of wild banana leaves.

Back to England went the steamer, and the seeds were taken to Kew Gardens in London. There they were planted, and there they sprouted up.

Nineteen hundred young plants were placed aboard a steamer and sent to the island of Ceylon. It was a long journey, and an important journey!

Ceylon is a strangely beautiful island paradise, not far from the southern end of India. You may remember the stories I wrote about it during my visit there last winter.

The 1,900 plants grew into trees, and some of the trees—now 62 years old—are to be seen today. Among them are several which are famous because of the large amount of rubber they produce.

A Hevea tree has power to give off latex when only three or four years old, but most planters wait until a tree is five or six years old before the first tapping. A six-year-old tree will yield about one pound of rubber. As the tree grows older, it produces several pounds of rubber in a year. A few trees produce 50 pounds of rubber, or more, each year.

The rubber trees grew well in Ceylon, but their great importance came from the fact that they provided seeds for more trees. At the present time there are millions of Hevea trees in Ceylon, the Malay States, and elsewhere in Asia, and they date back to the seeds Wickham took from the Amazon jungles. In Ceylon there are now close to half a million acres planted with rubber trees.

Ceylon rubber workers commonly mix acid with the latex, and this causes it to form a kind of "dough." The dough is passed between rollers so the water and other liquids will be pressed out.

Benefic aspects rule today, according to astrology. It is a time for social interchanges and is believed to promote lasting friendships.

The sway is auspicious for contracts, especially for engagements to marry, and even is fortunate for love letters.

Women will prosper in vocations that do not interfere with the ambitions of men. Astrologers warn that there will be severe opposition within the learned professions, as well as among business enterprises.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of average prosperity. For many, heart interest will interfere with business or professional ambitions.

Children born on this day may reveal both Cancer and Leo characteristics, for they are on the cusp of the two signs. They may be fond of change and extremely emotional.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—I have a 10-year-old son who has such filthy habits he runs me wild. He wears a pair of trousers two days and then they are beyond repair. Shoes do not last him more than a week. He washes himself like a cat and will not comb his hair. He looks like a vagabond the minute after I have prepared him for school. He knows no shame. I lecture him, scold him, punish him, but it does no good. I am desperate. What can I do about it?

Answer: Perhaps you did not start training him in the cradle in habits of neatness and order. If a mother begins early enough and has the strength and energy and determination to do it, she can usually civilize a boy by 10 years' hard work sufficiently to make him prefer clean clothes and wash behind his ears.

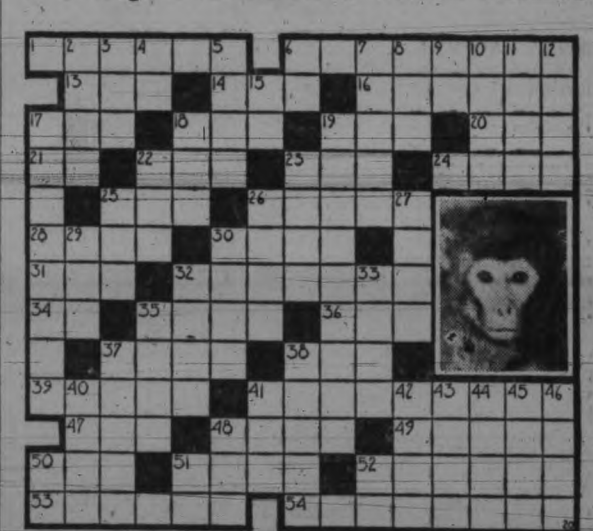

Of course, you can't let your son grow up with slovenly habits and an utter disregard of appearances, because that will handicap him as long as he lives. The first thing we all notice about a stranger is whether he is neat and clean, and it is thumbs down on him if he is grimy and unkempt. It takes genius to offset a soiled collar and finger nails in mourning.

In the meantime, as long as blame hasn't worked, why don't you try flattery on him? That is the lever that moves even the world of little boys. Tell him how good-looking he is when he is clean and dressed up instead of what a tramp he looks when he is filthy. I knew a mother who turned a rude little boy into a perfect Chesterfield by bragging, where he could hear, about John's beautiful manners. Johnny had picked up an old lady's handkerchief and eaten his soup without spilling it all over his jacket for once, and his wily mother seized on the incident to establish a precedent that Johnny had to live up to.

It is no use picking on children about their faults. They don't even listen to you. But they are amenable to praise.

"Know Mississippi Better" Party En Route to Coast From Winnipeg

WINNIPEG—Staggering under the weight of a huge Mississippi watermelon, Mayor John Queen left the Canadian National depot yesterday morning bound for the city offices to distribute portions of the luscious southern product to his civic staff.

The melon, one of the 40 for western Canadian mayors from the mayor of Water Valley, Miss., was formally presented to Mayor Queen by Dennis Murphree, former governor of Mississippi, on arrival of the "Know Mississippi Better" train here. More than 2,000 visitors were aboard the train of 15 passenger cars which arrived from the United States and left westbound. The tour will carry the southerners through western Canada to Alaska and by steamship down the coast to Vancouver. The choice melons, largest of the Mississippi crop, are to be presented to mayors at every official stop, including Portage La Prairie, Melville, Wainwright, Edmonton, Prince Rupert and Vancouver.

Pilchard Fleet Still Tied Up

Pilchard fishermen on the west coast of Vancouver Island have not started operations owing to a dispute with the cannery operators over prices. The fleet of 20 seine boats, all manned by white men, is tied up pending settlement with six operating canneries.

Last year canners paid $3 a ton but this season offered $2.40 which was unacceptable to the fishermen who ask for the former price. The total catch yearly runs anywhere from 40,000 to 80,000 tons.
